Great Britain Offers Two Plans For Debt Payment

British Government Decides Against Resumption of Full Payments

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)
LONDON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The British government has decided definitely against resumption of full war debt installments to the United States, regardless of the outcome of present negotiations at Washington. It was learned today from an authoritative source.

Two alternatives will be offered the United States, it was said on authority regarded as unimpeachable. They are:

1. A lump settlement in gold of not more than 100,000,000 pounds, ($475,000,000).

2. "Token" payments of $5,000,000 each every six months in place of the full installment of about $95,000,000.

The present capital value of the British war debt is about $3,600,000,000. Under the original war debt agreement payments of about $9,000,000,000 would have been made up to 1934.

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the government and principal British war debt negotiator, already has been instructed to make the alternative offers named, it was understood.

The lump sum payment, of course, would include principal and interest.

United Press information is that bar gold has been purchased over a period of many months by an unknown buyer in behalf of the British treasury, and that this would be shipped to the American treasury department at once if a lump settlement were made.

The token payments would commence Dec. 15, when the next debt installment is due.

While no decision is irrevocable, it was said that the offer was regarded by the MacDonald government as definite.

MILLION MEN WILL GET WORK SHORTLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(UP)—From 500,000 to 1,000,000 men will be employed on public works projects before the winter is well under way, the Engineering News Record said today.

The publication's prognostication, made after a nationwide survey, reported that "real and serious" delay up to three weeks ago has been supplanted since by rapid progress.

Allocations and allotments for carrying out the program up to Oct. 1 totaled $1,652,263,000. Of this amount $558,190,000 represented state, and $794,073,000 federal allocations.

ARCHDUKE OTTO ALIGNS FORCES WITH DOLFUSS

All Austrian Monarchists Get Behind Chancellor in Nazi Fight

VIENNA, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Twenty-year-old Archduke Otto, Hapsburg heir of the discontinued Austrian throne, today aligned himself and all Austrian monarchists behind Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

Otto's declaration of support was made to the United Press through Dr. F. R. Von Wiesner, of the entourage assigned him during his exile.

Its importance was twofold—first that it throws the support of some of Austria's most influential men to the little chancellor in his fight against Nazism; secondly, that it brings materially nearer the possibility of Otto becoming a constitutional monarch over Austria.

The statement, forwarded from Brussels where Otto, now visiting chateaus in Belgium and France, makes his headquarters, first mentioned Otto's recent declaration when he was made an honorary citizen of three Austrian towns. This declaration was interpreted as a bid for the throne.

"These declarations," said the statement, "repeat with more emphasis the point of view expressed by the emperor in all his letters to the communities that have made him a citizen of honor—more than 140 in all.

"These reiterated declarations make plain the inalienable rights of the heir of the Emperor Charles (Otto's father, forced to abdicate after the World War) to the crown of Austria.

"It goes without saying that his majesty anxiously desires to return to his country and demand the abolition by legal means of the unjust laws decreed in 1919, whereby the house of Hapsburg was expelled from Austria and forced to live in exile."

LINDBERGH VISIT WITH MRS. MORGAN

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The Daily Mail reported today that Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh came to Great Britain in order to take Mrs. Lindbergh's sister Elizabeth—Mrs. Aubrey Neil Morgan—to California to convalesce from an illness induced by the shock of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby.

Apparently the Lindberghs were staying with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan at St. Brides Super Ely, Wales, but the household was secretive and the gates of the grounds were chained.

The Daily Mail report was that Lindbergh would confer here with leading British air interests regarding a northern Atlantic air route.

ENGLAND TO SPEED UP NAVAL PROGRAM

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Great Britain will speed up her 1933 naval building program by several months in view of the stimulated construction of the United States and Japan, it was reported today.

An admiralty spokesman said he could not confirm or deny the report.

It was admitted that the American 10,000 ton cruiser program and the Japanese 8,500 ton cruisers with 15 five inch guns might cause Britain to alter her small cruiser designs so as to mount additional guns.

The British 1933 building program calls for four small cruisers, nine destroyers and three submarines.

DR. KING IN DENIAL OF CATTLE CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—A federal grand jury investigating alleged misuse of funds in eradicating tubercular cattle was believed today to have the denial of Dr. J. J. King, former state chief of the division of animal husbandry, that political considerations were involved in administration of the control areas.

Dr. King and Harold J. Gardner, former chief appraiser in the state department of agriculture, appeared before the jury.

Before he entered the jury room, Dr. King said he had stopped claims of Attilio Lertora and Eugene Biggio, Marin county claimants, before the investigation had started.

GOES TO PRISON

David A. Lamson, convicted wife slayer, who was taken to San Quentin today to await hanging on December 15.

DAVID LAMSON IS REMOVED TO STATE PRISON

Convicted Wife Slayer is Taken to San Quentin to Await Noose

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 6.—(UP)—Under guard of sheriff's deputies, David A. Lamson, handsome Stanford campus leader, was transferred today to the state's "big house," San Quentin prison, to await hanging Dec. 15 for the Memorial Day murder of his wife.

The party left the Santa Clara county jail here at 9:10 a. m. in charge of Sheriff William Emik.

The good looking prisoner stoically faced the ordeal of losing his personality in the teeming population of felons and slayers in the prison. His luxuriant crop of dark hair was to be clipped in prison style; his fingerprints were to be recorded; his photograph added to the Bertillon records.

Lamson's confidence that his stay in "condemned row" at San Quentin prison would be brief was reiterated as he left the cell he had occupied since last May.

"I am innocent. I am sure exonerated must come," he said after an interview with Louis Onal, prominent lawyer, and Dr. Margaret Lamson, his loyal sister.

Yesterday, Lamson bid farewell to his mother, Mrs. Genevieve Lamson, and his little daughter, Allene Genevieve, in a touching scene.

None of the Lamson family was present when the prisoner left his cell.

"Say, I'm hungry," Lamson said as Emig and his aides made preparations for departure.

He was taken to the jail kitchen where he ate.

Hatless, the condemned man took his place between Emig and Deputy Sheriff Howard Buffington in the rear seat of a touring car. Deputy Felix Cordway was at the wheel of the machine which proceeded over the Bayshore highway to San Francisco.

USE OF TOKENS IN STATE IS DOUBTFUL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 6.—(UP)—California may struggle along without using sales tax tokens, after all.

The state board of equalization today was in some bewilderment as to what course to pursue. After agreeing with petitioning merchants who a fortnight ago asked for some such system to help in their accounting, the board set the wheels in motion for issuance of the slugs.

Now comes a serious protest from Los Angeles business men who claim the tokens would give their bookkeepers the jitters trying to keep track of thousands of eighth-of-a-cent transactions.

The board is hesitating whether to issue the tokens at all.

MENCKEN TO RETIRE AS MERCURY EDITOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Wary of lambasting the figures of the American scene, Henry L. Mencken, Baltimore iconoclast, announced today that he would soon retire as editor of the American Mercury.

Mencken's decision brought near its close one of the most remarkable chapters in American criticism. The Mercury was founded by Alfred A. Knopf, Mencken's publisher, largely as an organ for the opinions of Mencken and his one time bosom friend, George Jean Nathan, a dramatic critic. Nathan retired several years ago.

Mencken said he was retiring to engage in his first love, newspaper writing, and because he wanted to write some books.

Adequate Safeguards to Be Established Before Men Returned to Work

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The county moved today to pay 6000 workmen who were removed from their jobs in Griffith Park as the coroner's office announced the blaze had been accounted for.

The latter development left 29 names still on the missing list, with 19 of the 28 known dead identified.

"Pay without work" was provided by the County Welfare bureau to prevent suffering among families dependent on wages from county relief projects.

REGULATION OF PRICES MEETS JOHNSON OKAY

Administrator Still Favors Proposed Stop Loss Feature of Code

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson still favors the proposed "stop loss" price regulation features of the general retail code, and intends to recommend their approval by President Roosevelt unless opponents advance more convincing arguments than they have so far.

This was made clear by the general as he resumed personal command of the NRA today after an absence of more than two weeks.

Johnson was in Walter Reed hospital 12 days for a minor operation.

The retail code is the most important one still pending before the NRA. With Johnson back at his desk, early action is expected, not only on it but on several others which lagged during his absence.

Disputed price provisions on the retail code would forbid stores to sell goods at less than the invoice cost to them plus 19 per cent. Pointing out that costs of store operation average considerably more than 19 per cent, Johnson contended the provision would protect small stores against "ruthless" competition without burdening the consumer.

Its principal effect, he believed, would be to stop cut-price sales in which stores offer a few items at cost or less to lure customers and then mark up other items correspondingly higher.

398 MILLIONS SOON WILL BE RELEASED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Approximately $398,735,000 in deposits is tied up in 375 unlicensed National banks whose reorganization plans have been approved by the comptroller of the currency, it was announced today.

C. J. O'Connor said more than 50 per cent of these deposits would be freed as soon as the banks carry out their reorganization plans. Most of them expect to do so before the end of the year.

Also held by these banks are unrestricted deposits of $31,153,000, segregated from ordinary deposits and in most cases payable on demand. In cases where these "trust" deposits have loans from the banks the conservators have been ordered by O'Connor to offset them with the deposits.

"Machine Gun" Kelly To Plead Guilty Saturday

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6.—(UP)—George (Machine Gun) Kelly will plead guilty to charges in the Urschel kidnapping case tomorrow morning in federal court, his attorney announced today. James H. Mathers, the gunman's lawyer also said he had advised the outlaw's wife, Katherine, to plead guilty.

FARLEY SPEAKS AT MEETING OF LABOR LEADERS

Urged to Keep Order While Rank and File Emerges From Depression

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Organized labor was asked by speakers at the American Federation of Labor convention today to maintain orderly cooperation in its efforts to emerge from the blighting depression of the last four years.

Postmaster General Farley and the Rev. Father Francis J. Haas, member of the NRA labor advisory board, urged patience and tolerance along with full cooperation with President Roosevelt's recovery program.

"Organized labor can make a mighty contribution to recovery if it continues to exhibit, not only on the part of leaders but also in the rank and file, a recognition of patriotic cooperation at which a majority of employers have rendered to the president's program," Farley said.

Father Haas said that criticism of the NRA was not justified because the ultimate result will be an enlargement of liberty rather than any encroachment upon personal privileges.

The need of complete unionization in the United States was never more urgent "than it is today," he said.

He urged restraint in use of the "legitimate weapon of strikes" and asked labor to use the national labor board and its regional branches for adjustment of industrial disputes.

New York Manager Scores First Run With Circuit Clout in Fourth

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The New York Giants won the fourth game of the world series from the Washington Senators, 2 to 1, today, bunting hits in the eleventh inning to end a nerve-wracking pitchers' duel. The victory was the Giants' third of the series.

The winning run was scored on a single by Blondy Ryan, Giants' shortstop, in the eleventh inning. Jackson led off the eleventh with a perfect bunt down the third base line. Manush then came through with a sacrifice bunt. Then came Ryan's scorching single to left, which brought Jackson, captain of the New Yorkers, home with what proved to be the winning run.

The Senators gave the 37,000 Washington fans a thrill in the last of the eleventh filling the bases on two hits and a walk. A double play ended the game.

The Giants were off to an early lead from Terry's homer in the fourth. The lone run looked big when it was made. But the Senators tallied in the seventh, getting a run they did not deserve just as they failed to get a run which seemed due them in the preceding inning.

The Senators' run was scored by Kuhel who reached first when...

Larger Avocado Crop Expected For Next Season

Southern California's coming Calavo-avocado crop now appears to be approximately 15 per cent larger than that of the 1932 season, which ended September 30, with production very spotted, according to an extensive crop survey just completed, according to the October crop reports of the agricultural department of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce.

A much larger crop control for this new season is assured the industry's 1934 co-operative marketing program, due to recent additions for the new season of many of the remaining large producing and non-member growers. This greater marketing cooperation will bring more quality-standardized fruit to consumers. Through better stabilized markets, due to the replacement of cut-throat competition by cooperation, cooperative growers should realize far better returns, it is also indicated.

The new season's varieties will be late in maturing, as were varieties in the past season. Dickinsons and Dickinsons will predominate in October's market offerings, with scattered offerings of off-blooms and of miscellaneous varieties, according to Calavo association officials.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 6. (To the Editor of The Register.) For days I have heard on the radio these baseball announcers say "I will now give you the picture, World's Series, Washington versus New York at Washington, New York at bat, ninth inning." Well, they got me doing it. I will now give you the picture. It's the U. S. versus Depression. The score is three to two in favor of Depression. It's the last half of the ninth inning, U. S. at bat, two men are out and the bases are loaded. Unemployment is on third, N. R. A. is on second, Farm Relief on first and Roosevelt at bat. He has already had two hits during the game. There is three balls and two strikes on the batter. Depression's team has gathered around its pitcher. The batter is all confident. He rubs his hands in the dirt, he smiles. Here it comes. Bang! It's a hit, it's a hit. Unemployment crosses the plate. N. R. A. comes home with the winning run. Boy, Oh, Boy, what a game!

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

GIANTS—The crowd continued to boo Umpire Moran. Umpire Moran came down and instructed Chief Umpire Ormsby to remove Heinie Manush from left field. Ormsby waved Manush to the dugout. But Heinie just waved right back at him. The Senators gathered around the umpires at first base protesting the removal order. Manush stood like a statue in the left field position. Manager Cronin ordered Dave Harris to play. Harris played right field and Goslin moved over from right to left. Manush was wild with anger as he walked from the field. Cronin and Myer and Bluege escorted him to the dugout. Morlarty came up to Manush and put his arm around him as he walked the last few sad steps. Play was finally resumed. Hubbell out, Cronin to Kuehl. The crowd roared safe, deriding Moran. Moore duled to left center sliding safely to the middle bag. The pigeon which brought the Senators good luck yesterday returned to the infield. Critz out Cronin to Kuehl. Moore moving to third. Terry out, Weaver to Kuehl. Again the crowd roared, jeering Moran.

LAUNCH MOVE FOR ADOPTION OF TECHNOCRACY; GOAL IS SHARING PLENTY WITH ALL

For the first time in Orange county, a definite movement was launched to enlist the established political order under the banner of Technocracy at a mass meeting last night in the Temple theater when petitions to legislative bodies were circulated following an address by Dr. Walter Thomas Mills, authority on Technocracy.

Dr. Mills, in a lecture which received the expressed approval of a crowd that filled the Temple theater, pointed out that the petition has been circulated in Los Angeles and signed by 90 per cent of the voters in his precinct.

In a forceful address which preceded the presentation of petitions, he stressed the rights of the people to share equally in the ample production of the nation, intimating that the program of the present governmental administration is to accomplish this end.

Demand for petitions at the meeting was so great that the available supply was exhausted. Dr. Mills promising to bring more when he returns to speak here next Thursday night.

Policies Outlined
The petition, addressed to all legislative bodies of the nation, asks the governing groups to adopt as their fixed policy three main principles in promoting justice and efficiency in the production and means of living. The points were: "To lease, purchase, or requisition for public ownership and management, all natural resources, means of transportation, manufacture, storage, distribution, accounting, and consumable goods found in storage, so far as will be required to make an end of private monopoly in industry and commerce, and to provide rational employment for all citizens from 20 to 45 years of age, and an equal and ample income for the whole population of the nation or of any political subdivision within the nation."

"2. To make payment for all properties taken for public use and to provide incomes for all, including the young, the aged and the disabled, with orders on the public stores for consumable goods or services for personal use and such rates as will make an annual balance between production and consumption."

"3. To make an end of all taxes, of all debts both public and private, together with all charities of every sort, and this in consideration of the incomes herein provided, and the perpetual and universal security, with leisure and liberty for all."

Dr. Mills declared in his address that the only way to find out if Technocracy will work is to try it. "The present system," he asserted, "has been tried for 200 years and we know it doesn't work."

Fault Is Evident
"The fault of present machinery is evident because we experience long periods of distress and short periods of revival—and then take another tumble. Mathematics prove that cost of production plus profit will not work out. The only way it will work is to take away profit."

"What is the trouble with the world? There is poverty, but not because the Lord did not make land enough or land fertile enough. There are ragged, unsheltered and hungry men and women but not for the reason that there is lack of invention or discovery. In fact, we produce too much. Those who create wealth should share in their products. Where, then is the fault? It is in organization. The organizer has not done his work as has the discoverer and subsequent inventor."

"In the present system we have a group of millionaires on one hand and an army of beggars on the other. Why is this so when neither is necessary to mankind? I propose that organizers reorganize activities so that human intelligence no longer is degraded but will be provided with a better birthplace."

"What we have lacked is an organizer. Franklin D. Roosevelt has been spoken of so much because possibly he is the man who has arrived who can bring beneficial results and end misery."

"Another time I will be glad to prove that big business and monopoly is not wrong if it is used right and does not misuse us. Consolidation of property, elimination of waste and the liberation of the world are three legs of the stool the world has to stand on."

"What does Technocracy propose? Can its purpose be accomplished by peaceful and intelligent methods? Yes. Technocracy proposes that we reorganize so organization will serve us as we need to be served. Technocracy says that natural resources belong to all the people. That is, all that are alive at a given time. There is no reason for a dead man to own property. There is no reason to mortgage the future of those yet unborn and who will not be born for 100 years. We are now selling bonds in this country which will not be due for 140 years. Is this sensible?"

"The same countries that make a child not responsible for its father's debts, as formerly was the case, makes five generations of children pay their debts. It is claimed that the world could not be sold for enough to pay its debts. If this is so, the world should go into bankruptcy."

"The Morgan fortune grew out of piracy at sea but when members of the family discovered they could get more out of banking, they took to banking instead of piracy."

Impossible To Pay
"We have substituted the divine right of private contracts for the divine right of kings. No man is obliged to do what is known to be impossible. We know now that it is impossible for the credit system to survive and for the world to pay its debts. The ordinary course in this case would be to go through bankruptcy. It is not right that children should pay the debts of their dead and buried ancestors. We can't do this and you know it! Outstanding debts will never be paid."

"Technocracy says it will give the rich man a better deal than he ever had. It will treat him as well as we treat ourselves. If everyone had an income equivalent to $5000 a year would they risk losing it to make it $5400? I think not. The order of things could be reorganized so this would be possible. We don't live on money; we live on what money buys. Why not organize so every individual has a definite income from birth to death? Why wait? How can we succeed in this? Simply by correcting the organization of industry and commerce."

"For the first time in history an American president is willing to try experiments. Roosevelt tries experiments, and says, 'I don't know if this will work, but we'll try it.' These experiments must lead to something."

"When the stock market crashed there was not a single thing owned by the public that went down in value. There is not one organization going broke now that is owned by everyone. The same thing once was said about highways which now is said about railroads. There is no reason why the order should not be changed until big business is so big all of us are stockholders! This can be accomplished peacefully. War never settled anything."

Answers Question
Dr. Mills outlined the history of the initiative and referendum prior to the presentation of the petition to the group. "I wish," he asserted, "that I could live long enough to see the end of Tammany hall and Wall street, a combination that has controlled and corrupted both parties, so that the people will organize to provide necessities for all of mankind and so all would have a voice in affairs."

Answering questions in the forum last night, Dr. Mills made the following points: All new wealth is created by the consumption of other wealth previously created. If Roosevelt would begin a program of distributing surplus goods to those who are out of work and who will not be given work under the industrial program, great good would result. It is not creditable to use credit if you can pay cash; it is not necessary to pay cash if you already own what you want to use. The philosophy of Marx and Technocracy are alike. If they do not agree it is because only of the time element in arriving at the climax. It is wrong to assume that a young man in a normal environment would be lazy; if he were, he could be sent to an insane asylum for treatment."

6000 WORKERS ARE DISMISSED BY L. A. COUNTY

Members of Coroner Nance's special investigating committee took part in yesterday's hearing. Closely questioned were Section Foreman Clarence Worley, 987 West Fifty-seventh street, and Walking Foreman W. W. Richmond, 10588 Putney road.

Accusations Hurdled
Charges that Richmond drove men into the fire area were made by William H. Burton, a workman.

He was followed on the stand by F. L. Morgan, 2022½ East Seventy-eighth street, who also declared he heard men ordered into the fire area against their will.

Taking the stand in Richmond's defense was Isaac Jones, a Negro shift foreman. He said: "I saw Richmond during the fire. He appeared considerate of the men."

Richmond himself said he at no time ordered men against their will into the fire area.

GIANTS TAKE FOURTH GAME FROM SOLONS

Carl Hubbell, Giant pitcher, juggled an easy roller. Ossie Bluege sacrificed him along and Luke Sewell scored him from second with a smashing hit to center.

Washington's rejuvenated Senators tried to pass their luck today in the fourth and probably most critical game of the 1933 world series.

A brilliant sun was shining and a slightly chilly breeze whipped down from the northeast.

Finally in the winning column because of Earl Whitehill's masterful pitching and Buddy Myer's timely work at bat yesterday the Senators tried to pass their luck to get a victory that would make the game count stand at two-all.

Professional bet-layers however made the Giants the favorites in the fourth game. This was a tribute to the pitching of Carl Hubbell, elongated screwball star who was Manager Bill Terry's choice.

The Senators' cause was based on the slants of Monte Weaver, dependable right hander.

The army band paraded across the field a moment or so before game time.

The band faced the flag pole back of center field and played the national anthem. The American flag was run up to the peak. It was then lowered to half mast in tribute to William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, who died yesterday.

The Senators raced onto the field displaying the same pep as yesterday.

Boulevard Speeder Gets Term In Jail
A high powered car and heavy foot, plus a wide highway and an alert traffic cop, were four reasons why Arthur Charleston, 30, Midway City salesman, entered the county jail last night to serve a term of five days for speeding.

California Highway Patrolman George Stinson saw Charleston speeding on Santa Ana boulevard on September 18 and pursued him from the county hospital to the North Main street end of the highway at more than 65 miles per hour. Charleston admitted he wasn't looking at his speedometer but said he hit 67 miles per hour once. A test of his speedometer revealed that it was eight miles slow so Judge Kenneth Morrison imposed the five day sentence last Friday and gave him a week to enter the jail.

The sea is free days of the past are behind you and you seem to be imprisoned in a lock of the canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. You are putting your faith in God. NEW JUDGE ON BENCH AS STATE PRESSES ACTION

Attempts to further delay hearing on a petition by the state of California for the court to order a survey of Terno No. 4 well, in the Huntington Beach oil field, failed today when Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine of San Diego overruled a motion seeking a continuance of one week, which was made by Roland Swaffield, one of the attorneys defending the Terno Oil company, Ltd., and E. E. Combs, owner of the property. The Terno Oil company has been accused by the state with "whistling" wells or drilling at an angle, in the Huntington Beach field to tap an underground oil pool under state owned tidelands. At the time the complaint was filed the state also asked a court order for a survey of the well operated by Terno company on the landward side of Ocean avenue to determine whether or not such trespass had been committed.

Accused jointly with the Terno Corporation were Combs, owner of the property; H. John Eastman, drilling engineer; the H. John Eastman company, Standard Oil company, Huntington Beach company, city of Huntington Beach and the Pacific Electric company.

The law firms of Swaffield and Swaffield and Rutan and Mize of Santa Ana originally represented Combs and the Terno corporation. This morning Swaffield asked permission to associate the firm of Cushing and Cushing in the defense.

Seeks More Time Moving for continuance of one week, Swaffield represented to the court that since beginning preparation of the defense he became convinced that it would require another week to be prepared to properly present the many complex technical and scientific angles of the case, as well as the legal phases involved.

He said that the physical facts were involved as well as the law of property rights and possible violation of constitutional rights in relation to the requested survey. The situation, he declared, concerns the fundamental right of one party to enter the property of another, and pertains not only to the Terno Oil corporation property but to the entire city of Huntington Beach and endangers not only property rights but lives.

He contended that before the court is called upon to exercise its discretionary power the defense should have the right to present every fact in connection with the case as well as the law. He cited as reasons for seeking additional time the fact that he had just received two depositions, important to the defense, after reaching court. These depositions were those of Irvin Dingle, investigator for the state, and a state employee named Alexander. Both Dingle and Alexander had signed affidavits filed by the state as part of its case.

Attorney General Here Attorney General U. S. Webb, in Santa Ana to personally direct prosecution of the case against the oil corporation, vigorously opposed any attempt to further delay hearing on the order for a survey of the well, and summed up his entire argument in the statement that the Terno well was drilled either straight down or slanted, and that the accused corporation and individuals were either guilty or not guilty.

If they are guilty, he declared, he could see every reason for seeking further delay in the hearing. If the defendants are innocent, he said, defense attorneys should be anxious to exonerate their clients at the first opportunity.

Referring to the charge of trespass, he declared, "had the same act been committed above ground as is alleged to have been committed underground it would be called by a more severe name than trespass. However, trespass will do for the minute."

As a final and what he believed to be a clinching argument on behalf of his plea for a continuance Swaffield filed with the court a technical objection to proceeding with the hearing on the grounds that neither he nor his clients had been served with points and authorities as required by judicial council of the state under proceedings governing the case.

L. G. Campbell of the state attorney-general's office contended that Swaffield had no right to file the technical objection at this time as in a statement to Swaffield two weeks ago when the continuance was granted he had outlined what the state expected to rely on in its request for a survey.

Objection Overruled Judge Turrentine overruled Swaffield's objection on the grounds that defense action two weeks ago in requesting a continuance to a certain date constituted a waiver of points and authorities. He ordered that the case proceed as far as possible today and at that conclusion the defense would be allowed to submit anything else by affidavit.

This afternoon the state will be required to present its case first thus reversing the usual order of procedure but not shifting the burden of proof from the defense. Before making his ruling against further continuance the court asked Swaffield the question if the defense made denial of charges of the state what would be the objection to proceeding with the hearing.

Swaffield's reply was that the defense had not yet decided what the objection would be but intended to know the kind of survey to be made; how it would be made; if it would involve possible damage to or taking property without due process of the law and whether the proceedings would come under Section 743 of the Political Code which is being followed in this case.

The objection to jurisdiction of the court to hear the proceedings filed by Hauser and Hauser, representing H. John Eastman and the H. John Eastman company was overruled and they joined in with Swaffield as did attorneys for the defendant R. H. Garrison, one of the oil engineers accused by the state, in seeking a continuance. Oscar Lawler of the firm of Lawler and Degnan, representing the Standard Oil company and Huntington Beach company did not join in the request.

Judge Turrentine was called in to the case by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel who heard former arguments in the matter because of the possibility that he would be disqualified under a recently added clause in the disqualification law providing that when a city is involved in litigation all courts in the county are disqualified from acting.

At the close of the hearing Swaffield indicated the possibility of questioning the right of Judge Turrentine to sit in the case but decided to go into details. He declared that a rumor had come to him and he would like to investigate it further before making a formal objection.

The case was to continue at 2 p. m. with it understood that if any objection to Judge Turrentine's jurisdiction were to be made it would be made at that time.

Diseases, Accident Blamed For Death Of Beach Resident

A complication of diseases, with a fractured rib received in an automobile accident on September 29 as a contributory cause, was responsible for the death of William Burt McBride, 66, who was found dead in his bed Wednesday, according to a coroner's jury here yesterday.

Mrs. Virginia Hughes, of Los Angeles, a daughter, testified that her father, formerly a well-to-do insurance man of Cleveland, has been a chronic invalid for 10 years. Dr. Burgess B. Mason, who found Mr. McBride dead, told the jury that he was not called to attend him for injuries received in the accident until Monday. The injured man refused to have a nurse and when the fractured rib was diagnosed the patient still refused outside help.

According to Mrs. Hughes there will be no funeral service and the body will be cremated. The widow is expected soon from Cleveland. In addition to Mrs. Hughes there is another daughter, Mrs. Mildred M. Wilkin, of Cleveland, and two sons, Philip McBride, of Cleveland, and Bert McBride, of New York.

Preceding the inquest, which was held at the Laguna Beach Funeral home by Coroner Earl Abbey, an autopsy was performed by Dr. John J. Montanos, county surgeon.

Held FOR TRIAL ON BLACKJACK CHARGE Phillip Delsie, charged with ownership and possession of a blackjack, was bound over to the superior court yesterday when his preliminary hearing was held before Judge Charles Kuchel of Anaheim.

Delsie was arrested a month ago in connection with the disappearance of Francisco Mendoza, Del Rio Mexican, on October 31, 1932. When Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson entered the Delsie home, the blackjack was found and charges preferred against him. Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe said he would file the information against Delsie on Friday, October 13.

Following Delsie's arrest, confessions of his sister, Mrs. Sylvia Delsie and Jesus Pena, that they murdered Mendoza and disposed of the body near Laguna Beach, cleared him of participating in the crime.

PRESIDENTIAL RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN PARTICIPANTS IN GOOD WILL TOUR TO MEXICO

Former President Ortiz Rubio, now residing in San Diego has wholeheartedly welcomed the proposal of a goodwill tour to Mexico to operate out of Orange and San Diego counties, and has placed his special knowledge of Mexico at the disposal of the cruise sponsors and appeared before various interested groups in San Diego.

This personal value for San Diego has resulted in unusual enthusiasm in that section for a tour that will last 18 days. Twenty-seven citizens there have already made arrangements with the United Fruit Steamship company to sail with the S. S. Talamancas when it starts south November 4.

News of the southern county's enthusiastic reaction to the project reached this city simultaneously with the announcement of the opening of Orange county's campaign for a cruise representation calculated to rival that of San Diego county and previous Orange county delegations to Mexico.

Official courtesies in Mexico, while deliberately curtailed in an effort to preserve for the Orange county travelers the greatest freedom possible for the actual viewing of the Mexican scene and an intermingling with the people of the South, will nevertheless find an official climax in the welcome promised the Southern Californians by President Abelardo Rodriguez, according to report. CIRCUS BACKGROUND FOR THRILL FILM

"The Gallant Fool," which comes to Walker's State theater tonight and Saturday combines popular outdoor elements with fresh colorful material. Silhouetted against the primitive background of ranch life, it depicts the conflict that arises between residents of "Big Bend," and members of a traveling circus troupe who show in the vicinity.

Rough-riding and other cowboy features are varied by the introduction of thrilling aerial trapeze work and other entertaining circus stunts performed by professionals. Bob Steele is starred in the picture, and proves his versatility by impersonating the circus star instead of doing his usual western characterization.

CHORUS GIRL HALTS SUIT FOR $250,000

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6. — (UP) — Betty Kaage, Chicago chorus girl, has dismissed her $250,000 breach of promise suit against Alan Dinehart.

Attorneys dismissed the action with the statement they were acting on orders of her Chicago counsel.

Attorneys for the actor declared no settlement has been made out of court. They said Miss Kaage had refused to appear for a deposition.

Dinehart was sued shortly after he married Mozelle Brittonne, Oklahoma actress, last June 28.

HOLLYWOOD WOMAN GETS SPEED TICKET

Kay Van Riper had an exciting story to tell her Hollywood friends today, all about being chased by a speed cop and finally being given a ticket on the Coast highway for speeding 65 miles an hour.

At least, the attractive young woman might have told such a story because she was stopped yesterday by California Highway Patrolman Oscar Kelley while exceeding the speed limit near Newport Beach. Judge Donald Dodge of Costa Mesa will hear her excuses on October 20.

Revoke Probation, Faces Prison Term

With probation revoked on four counts of burglary, Norman Lemon had charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor dismissed in justice court today and awaited his trip to San Quentin prison tonight.

Judge G. K. Scovel revoked the probation of Lemon following his arrest on the contributing charge brought by an 18-year-old Santa Ana girl. Lemon was originally arrested on the burglary charges in 1929.

DRASTIC ACTION FOLLOWS TRY AT EATING BILL

Trying to swallow a counterfeit $20 bill brought a lot of anguish last night to Frank Hemingway, 48, Long Beach, who was arrested in company with Pat Doherty, 37, Los Angeles machinist, after Hemingway was reported to have tried to pass the bill in the grocery store of Ben Baker, 425 West Fourth street.

Officer C. E. Neer, walking by the grocery store just as Hemingway beat a hasty retreat to a parked car occupied by Doherty at Fourth and Ross street, arrested the two men for investigation after talking to Baker. When police reinforcements arrived, Hemingway thrust the bogus bill in his mouth and tried to swallow it. An impromptu wrestling match resulted but the man apparently had swallowed the bill, officers thought when he opened his mouth wide for inspection.

Hemingway was rushed to a physician's office and given emetics and had his stomach pumped out and later was taken to the Orange County hospital and given physics in an effort to recover the bill. Hemingway and Doherty were finally taken to the county jail and booked for attempting to pass counterfeit money.

Two hours later, Officer William Heard, investigating a call at Fourth and Ross streets, happened to notice the wadded-up bill on the curbing where Hemingway had dropped it as he entered the police car. Federal officers were called from Los Angeles and said that the bill was one of a perfect imitation series which has been flooding Southern California.

The suspects were taken to Los Angeles this noon to face federal charges.

A. leaders who gathered at the Lighted Palm Inn in Anaheim yesterday noon for a semi-annual meeting. Financially the year was successful as the camp paid all expenses, it was reported.

A short, inspirational talk on "Carrying One" was given by F. E. Knapp, a state Y. M. C. A. officer, who was a guest for the day.

There were 15 present from all sections of the county.

Thankful that someone saw a story in The Register last night and returned a lost hub cap from his electrically motivated wheelchair, Frank "Brownie" Simonson, 1609 West Third street, was riding around town again today among his friends.

Simonson lost the cap and was unable to get a new one. An appeal was printed in the paper to help him find the missing part and within two hours after the paper was delivered, he was visited by the finder of the cap, who had read of it in The Register.

In the excitement, he neglected to learn the name of his benefactor and wished to express his appreciation through The Register.

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

REFINED

The sugar boys are at each other's throats for fair now, and a swell fight is raging under the surface over that long-awaited marketing agreement and quota allotment.

The tug-of-war has narrowed down to a contest between Charles W. Taussig, representing Cuban interests, and Wayne Johnson, who speaks for the eastern sugar refiners.

Taussig is president of the American Molasses Co., a subsidiary of the American Tobacco Co., and reputedly stands in well at the White House. On the other side Wayne Johnson's friends will tell you he has a solid standing with Postmaster General Jim Farley.

There is nothing particularly new about the nature of the row. Taussig's interests want a lift in the quota of refined sugar that may be shipped us from Cuba.

New York and Philadelphia refiners are holding out determinedly against any increase in this "off-shore white," as the trade calls all imported refined sugar.

UMPIRE

What is new though is that Dr. John Lee Coulter, Tariff Commissioner, who has been acting as sugar co-ordinator, appears to have been caught in the middle. Some of the pro-Cuban men called at Coulter's office the other day. A sweet young lady stenographer informed them that the doctor wouldn't be in all day because he was up at a local hotel with Johnson and one of the latter's attorneys.

The Taussig cohorts promptly departed and called Wayne Johnson's suite. They asked for Dr. Coulter. After a brief pause a voice came on the phone they recognized as belonging to the sugar co-ordinator. They hung up without conversation. Their next step must have been a protest to the heads of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration over the idea of a Federal umpire calling informally on one of the contestants in a dispute he was mediating.

BIDS

This is told without the slightest thought of reflecting on Dr. Coulter's integrity. Rather it reveals how closely the two factions are watching each other and how suspicious they are of the opposition's motives.

Almost any government official, member of Congress or newspaper man can be dined or wined at the hotel where the sugar barons are holding forth, and they don't have to ask for invitations.

But in any event the Cuban interests have made quite an undercover rumormongering visit to the suite maintained by the eastern refiners.

Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, of the Brain Trust, is mediating and meditating the problem of sugar. Dr. Coulter appears to be on his way back to the problems of the Tariff Commission.

LOBBY

Administration insiders are wondering whether a significant bit of testimony dropped at the Senate ocean mail investigation may not produce ever-widening ripples in the sea of agricultural unrest. With their own program in mind, they are hoping not.

It would seem a far cry from an ocean mail investigation to the troubles of the farmers, but the bridge that might link them is this:

Evidence was adduced that the propaganda facilities of the American Farm Bureau Federation were offered to the Steamship Owners' Association—provided the S. S. O. A. contributed $94,750 to the Farm Bureau.

Chester Gray, now an adviser to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was Washington representative of the Farm Bureau at the time the offer was made.

The offer was declined. The steamship men decided to disseminate their own propaganda. But it was developed that other organizations representing big business did employ the powerful lobby built up here by the Farm Bureau.

DISCLOSURES

Gray has been identified generally, together with the Farm Bureau, as the "conservative" spokesman who has kept the farmers from going completely off the reservations in their efforts to get a break.

Aligned against him have been principally John A. Simpson and the Farmers' Union, a truly militant organization that inspired the "farm holidays" or strikes.

So now official Washington wonders whether the disclosures of Farm Bureau activities may not stir up resentment among the farm rank and file in such fashion as to put Simpson in the ascendancy. Farmers' Union demands are a little too vigorous to suit the New Deal.

J. H. Summers, Newport Beach, and others. Mrs. Summers, director of Americanization at the Huntington Beach high school and who is president of the Indian Advisory Council, will be in charge of the convention program. She has served in this capacity for the past 12 years and her suggested program for Indian education is receiving consideration by the newly appointed group.

In the evening Indians will present tribal dances and ceremonies. Several noted educators will participate in the convention program.

HABITS

Bootlegging is giving NRA no little concern, according to informed sources. And we don't mean liquor.

Word has come in to headquarters that hidden factories have been set up outside New York state but in the immediate vicinity where tens of thousands of dresses are being turned out and dumped on the trade at prices absolutely ruinous to legitimate competitors. The whereabouts of these bootleg factories are highly guarded secrets. They are supposed to be employing needy men and women at starvation wages. That enables them to undersell even the undersellers.

Which only goes to show if you start a thing like bootlegging it becomes a habit.

GUNS

A recent news dispatch from Denver was an interesting commentary on the need for revision of certain Federal practices. The story stated ever so briefly that the machine gun and rifle taken from Kidnaper Charles Bates were to be sold at public auction to satisfy a claim against Bates by the American Express company. Fortunately for life and limb, the small arms manufacturers volunteered the information at a NRA hearing recently they intended to insert a clause in their code prohibiting the sale of machine guns and the like to any but police and the military.

NEW YORK

STRIKES

There's no sham about the battle in the steel and coal industries.

Both labor and capital mean business. The strikes so far have been little more than skirmishes between outposts compared to what is coming unless the government can perform a miracle. Labor is massing for a major offensive and capital is determined not to surrender.

The warfare is likely to spread to all of the so-called open shop industries before the shooting is over. Insiders expect the decisive test to develop within a month or six weeks.

There's one vital issue that cannot be arbitrated: unionization. The Federation of Labor intends to press its advantage and organize to the limit. The steel and coal heads will yield anything else under pressure but not that. They know they are standing on a burning deck, but they figure their whole system is sunk anyway unless they can somehow put out the fire.

One of the big men of the steel industry says privately that unless and until labor develops a caliber of leadership capable of taking over and running the United States government it need not think it can run the steel corporations.

TRUCE

Stubbornness on both sides will nullify General Johnson's earnest efforts to arrange a compromise peace. The less he can get will be a temporary truce. The Frick mines and other open shop units have been compelled to accept code conditions of wages and hours. Their miners are guaranteed the same working terms as members of the United Mine Workers. They still refuse to deal direct with the U. M. W. and insist there is no authority in the Recovery Act which can oblige them to do so.

But recognition is the one thing the miners demand above everything else. Permanent peace until they definitely win or lose on that issue is impossible.

NEUTRAL

The government wants to stay neutral on this particular angle of the scrap. It will have as hard a time doing so as the U. S. A. had in the World war. Both parties are counting on it as an ally.

Labor doesn't seek active assistance from the government. All it asks is a free hand with the strike weapon. But industry would like its governmental "partner" to step in and suppress the troublemakers. Meanwhile the Recovery Express is likely to crash head on into a stone wall unless something is done.

HOURS

Inside New York hears that the government's solution may be to make an official drive for the 30-hour week much sooner than expected. This is one of the Federation of Labor's primary policies, and government assistance there might induce leaders to soft pedal their aggressive membership.

drive for a while. Further shortening of the work week would be a bitter dose for conservative industrialists to swallow, but they might if they could get the unions off their chests.

CONVENTION

No Federation of Labor convention for years has been watched so closely by New York big-timers as the current one. Every word of the proceedings is scrutinized with a microscope to see whether there are any serious signs of a swing to the left. The well informed are convinced that the policies adopted by this convention will have a marked effect on our national destiny. And you may bet they will.

There is a general feeling in high quarters that labor is pretty certain to get what it wants in the long run. Some who think so want to fight to the bitter end anyway. Others think it wiser to play along with the Federation on everything but the closed shop in order to keep right-wing leaders in power.

President Green's opposition to inflation fitted into the picture as neatly as the last piece in a jigsaw puzzle. Most of Wall Street is pleased. You will hear much less chat about a farmer-labor alliance from now on.

COMPROMISE

The keenest local observers say that employers who are satisfied with the phases of the Recovery Act which abrogate the anti-trust laws fail to realize that Congress put NRA through only because labor got something out of the legislation.

They point out that the administration had to find some sort of common denominator in order to make NRA work at all. "We've got the hide we asked for. After all, we ought to realize we must take the horns and hoofs with it."

So far labor has shown no tendency to recall the anti-trust laws to life. The crabbings has all come from the employers' side. But NRA could not function on a one-way street.

SIDELIGHTS

The walls for intervention of New York institutions which own property in Cuba will continue to fall on deaf ears. Tammany's board of strategy vetoed Mayor O'Brien's appearance at the world series. They thought he had collected his quota of razberries already. The government's relief plans will help the hard coal industry no end. It's another case of bagging two birds with one shot.

Santa Ana, Oct. 5, 1933.
Editor, Santa Ana Register.

Sir:

In your editorial of Oct. 2nd, regarding President Roosevelt's speech to the American Legion you agree with him that "Just because a man wore the uniform does not entitle him to any more benefits than the man that stayed at home."

Then the man that stayed at home must have endured hardships. The man that wore the uniform over there in mud up to his knees, (cases of the feet rotting off from this exposure) the rat-tat-tat of the machine gun bullets, the shrieks of his wounded comrades, and the bad food and exposure according to the above statement amounted to no more than the man in a well ventilated office, a soft carpet under his feet, a swivel chair with a nice cushion listening to the rat-tat-tat of the blonde or perhaps brunet stenographer, his mind on the food some pretty waitress would bring him at lunch time and the only shrieks he heard were the shriek of the noon whistle.

If it has come to the state of affairs that the U. S. cannot take care of its veterans and is fast going bankrupt from the payment of pensions it seems that "Old Glory" should be taken off the stand in front of the speaker of the house and be put in a glass case, a relic of former days and the former standard of the United States that stood for "Love, Liberty, Humanity and justice to all and in its place on the stand a dollar bill weighted down with a knife, as since the taking of office of this administration we have heard nothing but the dollar talked of, first balking the budget, it became necessary to cut off the soldiers' pensions or reduce them (nothing and cutting the $66,000 a pound on mail), the Glass banking bill to allow 13,000 banks to open and 400,000 in the U. S. to remain closed as a special favor to certain banking interests. The budget balanced by trick bookkeeping and $6,000,000,000 of debt to run the next 35 years added.

It is true the senate is investigating the sixty-six thousand debt but like all other investigations of this kind it is long drawn out and the public will forget and the payment continue. Will you please give a statement of the amount of money paid on this act each year for the last five years that the public may know whether it is soldiers' pensions or some other cause that is impairing the credit of the U. S.?

Respectfully,
BENJ. T. GURNEY.

TEACHING the GENTLE ART of LOVE in the SCHOOL ROOM

He would like to see each high school and college have its class in the fine arts of lovemaking, courtship and marriage.

By Paul Conant

THE youth of America are hereby declared in contempt of courtship. They don't know how to make love. They ought to be taught. Society as usual is ducking the issue, and the whole broad land is filled with tragic mismatings.

The answer? To Dr. E. E. Erickson, professor of philosophy at the staid University of Utah, the answer is education. He would like to see each high school and college have its class in the fine arts of lovemaking, courtship and marriage.

You cannot, Dr. Erickson believes, trust to instinct in love. You have to use your head as well as your heart. A dimple in the chin is not a good enough reason for marrying the gal, and a letter in football is no proof that the boy will throw life for a goal.

He is not talking through his professional hat. He has tried his courtship classes, both in high schools and colleges.

Well, how do they work?

They work fine. It's not so shocking an idea as many people think; it isn't shocking at all.

"I don't," Dr. Erickson points out, "teach the 'facts of life.' I don't really teach anything at all. And I don't preach. I am what Socrates called a 'philosophical midwife.' I try to help young people give birth to their own ideas.

"And their ideas on sex matters, when properly guided, are surprisingly sound."

BEFORE we go any further into the courtship classes, let's get Dr. Erickson's Advice to the Lovelorn.

He says:

Learn each other!

Can your boy friend earn a living or will you have to take in washing?

What barriers are there?

If he is of one religion and you of another, look out. It is a rock that splits many marriages.

Check up on the family trees. Be careful of one with too many nuts growing on it.

What kind of parents has he or she? If her mother is nervous and irritable, maybe that's a future picture of the sweet young thing.

How about the family life? Study it. See if it's the kind of family life that could conceivably produce a mate for you.

How about the health factor?

Is your beloved anywhere near your equal in intelligence or will he want to read the baseball scores while you hear a symphony orchestra?

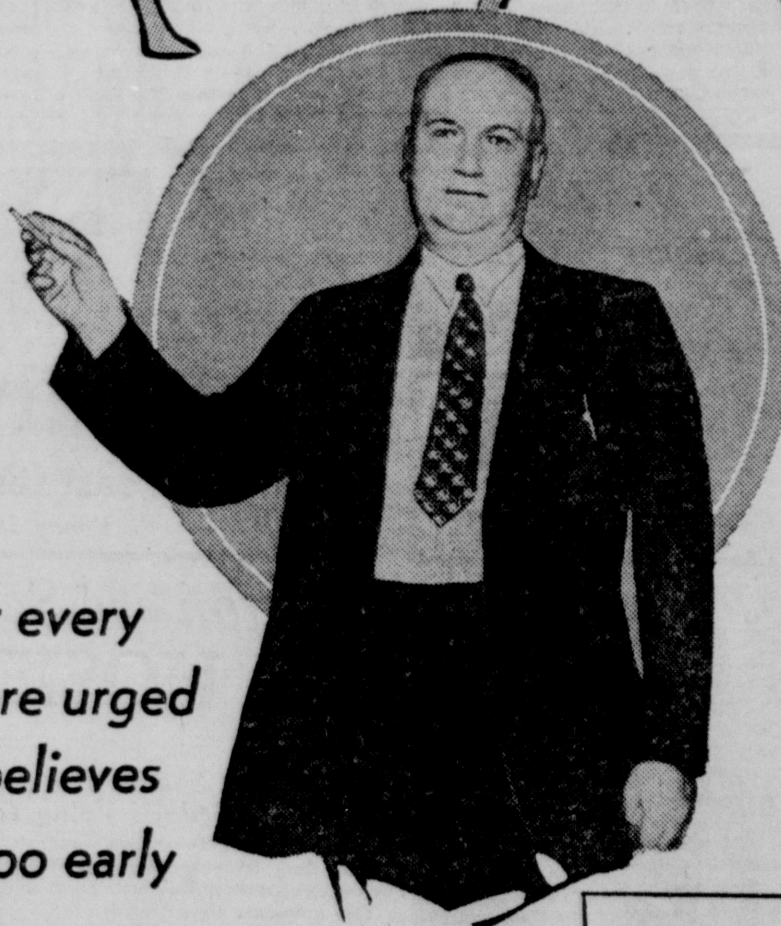

How about his—or her—likelihood of making the difficult adjustment of marriage?

How about his—or her—moral character? Is your sweetheart emotionally mature or emotionally a child? Do you love him—or her—enough to put up with pouts and tantrums?

THESE are some of the questions Dr. Erickson wants all young couples to ask themselves. And he believes that society, instead of smiling sentimentally, should help get the right answers.

That's the purpose of the classes in courtship—classes, by the way, which have won him international applause as well as abuse.

Classes in courtship for every high school and college are urged by this professor who believes that youth can't learn too early lovemaking and marriage.

"The results are gratifying. The students discuss these problems freely and sensibly. Their judgment is not so immature as people suppose.

FOR instance, here are some of the questions they talk over:

"How early is it advisable to pair off? Some communities permit this as early as 14, but usually the time is later because of local sentiment and custom.

"How early should they marry?"

"What effect has promiscuous lovemaking on society in general?"

"And how does it affect later family life?"

See? In different words, these students are discussing the great and ancient question of "necking" right out in a university class.

This open discussion, Dr. Erickson says, helps to break down the taboos and vulgarity usually associated with sex in the young mind.

"Youth's central problem," he declares, "must be attacked through youth itself.

"The entire question is not exclusively one of sociology, or psychology, or biology—there is also a system of ideals and sound sentiment that cannot be denied.

"By sound sentiment I mean a sentiment based in reality as opposed to the foolish sentiment of too-romantic love as understood by society.

"Yes, in most cases. In some cases, no."

"Then we must be careful that the family is founded on a solid rock, and the very beginning is the most important. And the beginning is the selection, isn't it?"

"Yes, of course."

"Then what do we want to select? We say we want companions, lovers, friends, all in one. How do we determine that we are going to get this happy combination?"

This is where the class in courtship goes into action.

THE youngsters work out the problem themselves. They find out why cute blue eyes are not a good enough reason for marching to the altar; they discover that companionship runs longer and truer than passion.

"The whole purpose of these classes," Dr. Erickson says, "is to help young people select the right mate.

"Biological attraction is a factor in every marriage, of course, but it is by no means the only factor.

"Love is a much higher thing than sex."

There are three main problems for youngsters to consider, he thinks, in the process of mating.

The first is biological. "You must be sure to pick a tree without too many nuts."

The second is economic. The boy must be able to earn a living, and, if the girl has been used to better things than he can provide, she must have the stamina and sense to get along in reduced circumstances.

The third is a little more complex.

DURING the entire process of courtship—that is, from the first general meetings between the sexes until the actual pairing—a system of values has been arising. The individual has formed in his or her mind an ideal kind of mate. This ideal will be a determining factor in the final mating."

As there are three considerations in mating, the pupils have worked out for themselves three levels of courtship.

The first is an extensive acquaintance with many persons of the opposite sex.

The second is "intensive" acquaintance—that is, the pairing off of the sexes, and the students of Dr. Erickson do not believe that in Caucasian civilization this should be done earlier than the ages of 18 or 19.

The third is the engagement period, and the process of learning each other. This must be a very delicate bit of personal adjustment, perhaps fraught with many surprises and disappointments as the actual fails to meet the ideal.

In this connection, Dr. Erickson wants to tell the world that he does not advocate the companionate marriage "trial and error" theory of former Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver.

"What I advocate," he says, "is the use of good solid sense in the engagement period.

"The adjustment of one life to another is not an easy process.

"The mates-to-be ought to be aided in every way, instead of hindered, in finding out if they are really suited to each other, and society ought to forget the sentimental gloss it puts over sex love.

"The courtship period ought to be long enough for the individuals to learn if they really want to marry or if they are just victims of a dimple in the chin.

"Divorces tend to be inversely in ratio to the length of courtship."

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—William Matlock spoke to the Fullerton District Junior college Y. M. C. A. yesterday on "A Way of Life Worthy of a Free Man."

FULLBACK PAYTON RETURNS TO SCHOOL

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—Fullerton District Junior college gridiron stock, which shot skyward last week when the Yellowjackets defeated the Pasadena Bulldogs, 13 to 6, was given another boost with the return of Herb Payton, fullback, and the enrollment of several promising men from the east.

Payton anticipated entering Oregon State university this fall but decided to take his sophomore year at the local junior college, thus simplifying matters for Arthur L. Nunn, who had considerable difficulty in finding suitable backfield material.

Coach Nunn is drilling his men exhaustively in fundamentals and plays which will vary this year's attack. He is contacting Navy teams for a game as a practice affair with the Whittier college freshmen failed to materialize.

The initial conference game will be played with San Bernardino here October 14. Besides beating Pasadena, defending Southern California junior college champions, for the first time in grid annals, the Hornets tied Long Beach, 6 to 6, in their first practice game this year.

HOOP TOSSERS IN PLANS FOR SEASON

Ralph Garman, forward, Archie Carpenter, center, and Art Matherson, guard, will be missing from this year's lineup. Garman graduated, while Carpenter quit school following the basketball season last year and Matherson was declared ineligible and is now working in a mattress factory.

DECLARES WAR NEAR IN FORUM FASCISM TALK

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—The solution of the present world chaos may be had in but one of two ways, either a leveling of the economic barriers, an almost impossible feat, or through war and destruction, and the United States cannot stay out of that world war which is imminent. Leon Ardron, professor of Columbia and European universities, told members of Fullerton People's forum last night at the old auditorium of the Fullerton Union High school. The forum is held under Charles Ruby, law teacher, each Thursday night at the school.

His address was on "German Fascism and World War Danger," and he pronounced Fascism as a result of a condition, and as a result that cannot last long, and leads to either war or anarchy. War will be the outcome, he said, for the nations are armed to the teeth.

"Fascism has been known only in the last 12 years, and started under Mussolini," he said. "It is the elimination of parliamentary form of government and a substitutionary rule of one man but a party headed by a dictator." He explained, further, that it involves almost absolute control by the governing powers of production, distribution of wealth and industry. He suggested that that control in United States is through the board of trade, which differs from Fascism only in that it was brought about by legislation. There are no laws under Fascism, he said, but decrees, and the emphasis is on narrow militant nationalism. Persecution of Jews and aliens and religious groups is dependent on this revival of militant nationalism.

Fascism is resultant of certain conditions, chiefly the breakdown of the mechanism of production and distribution of goods and wealth, when the choice before the people is anarchy or some other machinery to take its place. Fascism takes over state powers without resistance from others, and no articulate effective objection is made, he said.

"German Fascism developed in eight months," the speaker said. "It came through six and a half million unemployed, after relief agencies had failed, and prices of commodities and living had become unbearable, while taxes were too burdensome to endure. There was no work, no food, but high taxes."

In conclusion, and in answer to a question, the speaker said that the only cure for war will be refusal of youth to fight.

Franklin Lowmyer, director of NRA in Southern California, will speak at the meeting Thursday night, October 12.

PASTORS SPEAK AT GATHERING OF UNEMPLOYED

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—Members of the Fullerton Unemployed Workers' legion last night enjoyed a dinner at the commissary, where women of the Legion served a meal at the cost of a few pennies a plate. The ice cream and cake were presented as a special treat by the Fullerton creamery and a group of women of the community.

F. E. Moll presided at the short program that followed dinner and introduced the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, speaker of the evening, and Dr. Graham Hunter, a guest. Dr. Hunter told of the appreciation of the co-operative movement and the work of Kagawa in Japan along that line.

The Rev. Mr. Hoffman also told of his knowledge of the Kagawa movement and its work of establishing cooperatives, and continued his talk showing how the churches, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, all have stood behind such a program as President Roosevelt is attempting to put into effect, for many years.

Among the things advocated by churches for many years, all involved in the Golden Rule, have been protection of women workers, short work hours, living wages, abolition of child labor, equal rights in courts, and all such progressive programs, he said.

In remarking on the unjust condition, the speaker said he tested part of those rules recently. He dressed as a laborer, sat in Pershing Square in Los Angeles, and talked with men there. Presently, he said, a member of the "Red Squad" touched him most urgently, and in terms not to be repeated, told him, along with six or seven others, to "Come along."

Hoffman objected. The officer asked him, "What are you doing here?" and he replied, "I am an American citizen; I have a right to be here." He told the officer if he hauled him in court, he would wish he had left him on the bench.

The result was that Hoffman, without revealing the fact that he was a minister, but through mentioning names of several prominent people in Los Angeles, was released, while the six or seven other men "as harmless as I am, simply victims of this depression, without work or homes, were given a sentence and given a police record of 'vagrants.'"

"This problem of reconstruction can only be solved when we have the Spirit of Christ in our hearts, and are willing to abide by His teachings," the minister concluded.

LIGHTWEIGHTS BEAT WILDCAT TEAM, 14 TO 7

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—Displaying a well-rounded attack, James Roy (Jimmie) Smith's Fullerton Union High school lightweight eleven captured a 14-to-7 verdict over Otis B. Hornaday's Wildcats at Brea yesterday afternoon. While the game was a practice affair for Brea-Olinda, it was a scheduled contest for the free-lancing Braves.

Brea-Olinda worked the ball into scoring position early in the first period, but lacked the scoring punch, and the Indians worked back to safety and assumed control of the game.

Aided by a Brea-Olinda fumble and a 15-yard penalty, Fullerton drove 50 yards for its first score in the second period, with Walter Clark, quarterback, scoring. Ray Bandel converted.

While neither team gained much headway in the third period, the Indians began their second touchdown march 70 yards down the greenway to score on the first play in the final period. Wesley Kowish, husky fullback, crashed through the Brea-Olinda forwards for the counter, and Joe Osborne converted by placement.

Making most of a Fullerton fumble on the Braves' 30-yard line, the Wildcats drove to their lone score in five plays, with Anderson scoring off tackle from the two-yard mark. Quarterback Vickery added the extra point.

In 14 plays the Indians advanced the ball to the Brea three-yard line, only to have this brilliant 82-yard march terminate with the final gun.

TELLS NEED OF INFLATION TO AID BUSINESS

ORANGE, Oct. 6.—"Inflation" was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Orange Rotary club at the American Legion clubhouse Thursday. The speaker was W. K. Maxwell, of Fullerton, who declared that at present it takes three times as much labor to produce a dollar as it did in 1924. If the price of but a few commodities were down, said the speaker, it might be reasonable to suppose that the condition is due to overproduction, but when all commodities are sold at a low price, this cannot be said to be true, he said.

The price of commodities is not due, said the speaker, to the decline of the price of the commodity but rather to the decline of the dollar. The wage income of the nation has declined from 53 billion to 23 billion since 1929, he said. Seven billions of dollars are deposited in closed banks of the nation, the speaker declared.

"Few realize," said Maxwell, "the effect of foreign exchange on domestic affairs. The basic trouble is the failure of the farmer to make a living and back of this is the fact that America is out of joint with the world market. South America, India, China and other countries are now on the silver basis and we are dealing with countries which have a more depressed silver basis."

"We can do nothing until the dollar is back to the normal standard of 1925. There is a lot of hughaboo talk about inflation. Russia and Germany are held up as examples. Conditions in America are very different than those existing in those countries. Both were without credit and had wasted their resources in war. We need no such inflation as was carried on in those countries but only a moderate inflation. Circulation of money will make business."

MAJOR U. S. TEAMS BEGIN GRID ACTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Yale, Harvard and Princeton, as well as Columbia and New York university, swing into line tomorrow on the football front and leading teams from coast to coast take on stronger opponents.

All of the big Eastern eleven will have seen action by Saturday night except Pennsylvania, which opens October 14.

The Big Three plays weaker opponents and no trouble was seen for Yale against Maine, Harvard vs. Bates and Princeton against Amherst.

Fordham has a soft one in Muhlenberg and Columbia was rated better than Lehigh. N. Y. U. towered above West Virginia Wesleyan in the experts' ratings.

"Pop" Warner's Temple team was given an edge over Carnegie Tech in their clash at Pittsburgh, one of the outstanding games. Holy Cross is favored over Catholic University and Pitt over West Virginia. Army is rated above V. M. I. and Navy over Mercer.

In the south Tulane looks better than Georgia and other probable Southern winners are Kentucky over Georgia Tech, Alabama over Mississippi, Vanderbilt over North Carolina.

TITLE BOUT LOOMS FOR KING LEVINSKY

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—"There is only one opponent for King Levinsky to fight now and he is Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion of the world."

So saying, Mrs. Lena Levy, sister-manager of the eccentric Chicago contender, prepared today to leave for New York for a conference with Madison Square Garden officials relative to a title match between Levinsky and Primo.

WHITE SOX TWO UP ON CHICAGO'S CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Victorious in the first two games, the Chicago White Sox moved to their own grounds today to meet the Cubs in the third game of the city series at Comiskey park.

Forty-five-year-old Urban (Red) Faber, oldest major league ball player, blanked the Cubs yesterday, 2-0.

'SENATOR SWAT ORGY DUE ANY TIME'-WAGNER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(UP)—With the count two to one, the world series today entered its crucial stage. A Giant victory would put them within one victory of a world championship. A Washington victory would put the series all even with both teams needing two games for ultimate triumph.

For the benefit of those who have been out of town for a couple of days here are a few facts and figures: The Giants won the first and second games 4 to 2 and 6 to 1. Then they came here and played before President Roosevelt, the U. S. Army band and some 25,000 ordinary persons and were whitewashed by Earl Whitehill, 4 to 0.

Manager Joe Cronin of the Senators let the boys know he expected to let Monty Weaver pitch today. "Memphis Bill" Herry of the Giants planned to use Carl Hubbell, lean and lanky screwball star, who battled the Nationals in the series inaugural.

Washington fans hoped Terry would follow through. They felt Hubbell worked some kind of hypnosis on their favorites in the opener and believed Cronin, Goslin and Manush would hit when they face the New York ace again.

It's better than an even bet that the Senators really will cut loose with some hits in one of the remaining series games. As old Hans Wagner remarked, the Senators, best slugger team in the American league, are due for a 14 or 16-run game before the series ends.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see it come today," Honus said. "They can't handcuff Goslin, Manush and Cronin forever. And don't forget the Senators were lucky yesterday. They got doubles that went for the extra bases by feet. They got singles by inches and split second."

"I don't mean to take anything away from Whitehill's great showing, but the Senators did get what breaks there were."

LOYOLA FAVORED TO WIN FROM ARIZONA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(UP)—An aggressive Loyola university football eleven hoped to boost its season's average to two victories at the expense of the University of Arizona at a twirly field here tonight.

Victorious in its opener against Caltech and defeated last week by Southern California, Loyola was favored to improve its .500 average by defeating the visiting Wildcats by at least two touchdowns.

The Lions vanquished the same team last year, 32 to 6. Coach "Tex" Oliver, former Santa Ana high school mentor, brought 30 Arizona players here for the game. They arrived this morning.

The starting lineups: Loyola (No. 17) Robinson (1), Dermody (33), (32) Crogan (RT), Kip (20), (30) Duwe (RGL), Santa Cruz (67), (20) Lionberger (C), Saunders (51), (40) Church (L), Schroeder (70), (44) Metz (L), Kitzke (44), (44) Greer (L), O'Bryan (21), (20) Carlson (Q), Kaser (22), (15) Bland (RH), Atkinson (23), (25) Abbott (LH), Bouchard (40), (26) Smith (F), Sherry (32).

Jack Salverson, a young pitcher who is a nephew of Herb Salverson and who went to school in Northern Orange county before embarking on a baseball career, will draw a half-share of the New York Giants' world series split.

Salverson went to Long Beach jaysee one semester.

RAMBLIN' AROUND

The next game at the Municipal Bowl (Dons vs. U. C. L. A. frosh, next Friday night) will be played on a much better turf. That Bermuda carpet is prospering. . . . Doug Hinesly has been held back by injuries with the Trojan frosh but "Red" Kidder has been a first-string back from the first day of practice. . . . They say that Orange Hi isn't playing the annual County Armistice Day celebration football game this year because the Orange-Newport Harbor game scheduled that day wouldn't be such a hot attraction. So it will be played Nov. 10 and the Spartan Athletic club of Santa Ana will fill in the holiday date. . . . The Coast Preparatory league championship will be decided, they tell me, on the afternoon of Nov. 4 when Long Beach and Glendale meet in the San Diego stadium.

DADO METS M'LEOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—(UP)—Speedy Dado, Filipino bantamweight, and Billy McLeod of Stockton, appear as fistie headliners at Hollywood Legion stadium tonight. The fight is scheduled for 10 rounds. McLeod is favored.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Berkeley's two new backfield sensations both hail from the fertile football valleys of Orange county.

The first is Floyd Blower of Santa Ana, about whom much already has been written and said; the other is freckled, sandy-haired Cal Varner, a transfer from Fullerton Jaycee of which he was captain last year.

"Cal of Cal" blossomed out as a ball-carrying genius against Nevada last Saturday. On the strength of his performance, Bill Ingram has nominated Varner to start against St. Mary's tomorrow.

Varner migrated to California with a reputation only as a blocker. He went to high school in Brea without exacting more than average attention, but put on weight rapidly in the past two years and his value seemed to increase proportionately. Varner now weighs 188 or thereabouts and holds the poundage well on a frame that seems to be a fine-acting type of athlete with a booming basso that carries all over the park.

Orange county bowlers who remember Cal's uncles, "Press" and Milt Varner, will appreciate the will-to-win.

Down at Andrews gymnasium, they'll tell you confidentially that Santa Ana's Saints were "home-towned" out of a victory at Santa Barbara last Saturday. In the last quarter, it was apparent to everybody in the stadium except the officials, all Santa Barbara men, that Quarterback Waldo Smith squirmed over the goal-line with a yard or so to spare before he was pushed back by the charging secondary.

Smith's touchdown meant the ball game. So it didn't count!

Hunches: California to take St. Mary's. Santa Clara to nose out Stanford. The Trojans to wax Washington State much easier than anyone expects. Santa Ana Jaycee to beat Pomona, 6-0. And "Tex" Oliver's Arizonans to trim Loyola at Wrigley field tonight, although they all tell me I'm screwy on this one, that Loyola has plenty this year.

Injured, Santa Ana's Curt Youel will not play for S. C. against Washington State tomorrow, according to guarded reports from the Trojan campus. Youel miss him, Mr. Jones!

Francis Tappan, former All-American end at U. S. C., has come to Glendale HI as assistant coach to Jack Gaines. Tappan naturally knows best the Jones system. Gaines has been teaching the Notre Dame shift. . . . Of the Glendale jay-saw puzzle surely will come a new head coach next year. Probably he will be Tappan. Santa Ana plays Glendale here November 4.

Jesse Mortensen and Jesse Hill, erstwhile Trojan bowlers, coach at Riverside junior college and for three years the rest of the Orange Empire conference has caustically referred to the inland institution as a Trojan "farm," partly through envy at Riverside's success, partly because of the bewildering ability by which Riverside attracts stellar prep athletes. Yet, when you think it over, Riverside hasn't sent an outstanding athlete to S. C. in years. Andy Rogers, Fred Crogan, Harold Church and Al Newhouse followed "Tex" Oliver to Arizona. Walt Schell went to U. C. L. A. Orv. Nichols to Iowa State, Olie Arbellide to Washington State. Bob Rucker to Modesto. Benny Schaefer to Duke, "Tuffy" Stewart to Iowa and so on. So what?

Jack Salverson, a young pitcher who is a nephew of Herb Salverson and who went to school in Northern Orange county before embarking on a baseball career, will draw a half-share of the New York Giants' world series split.

Salverson went to Long Beach jaysee one semester.

ST. MARY'S 10-7 FAVORITE OVER BERKELEY BEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The wraps will be off tomorrow at Los Angeles, Berkeley and Palo Alto. Football fans will get their first real estimates of what the "big" teams are likely to do this season.

At Los Angeles, the Southern California Trojans meet their first test against Washington State college, a powerful set of tough veterans from the Palouse county who have not, themselves, been tested.

St. Mary's will show the heavy line and speedy backfield that supporters believe will take them to a National championship. They will play the University of California at Berkeley.

ST. MARY'S 10-7 FAVORITE OVER BERKELEY BEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The wraps will be off tomorrow at Los Angeles, Berkeley and Palo Alto. Football fans will get their first real estimates of what the "big" teams are likely to do this season.

At Los Angeles, the Southern California Trojans meet their first test against Washington State college, a powerful set of tough veterans from the Palouse county who have not, themselves, been tested.

St. Mary's will show the heavy line and speedy backfield that supporters believe will take them to a National championship. They will play the University of California at Berkeley.

Santa Clara will go against Stanford at Palo Alto determined to show that the victory over California was no fluke. The Cardinals however are favored by many on the basis of potential strength shown when they defeated University of California at Los Angeles, 3 to 0.

The Trojans are favored to beat the Cougars. Bets here gave St. Mary's 10 to 7 advantage over the Bears. No odds were taken or given on Stanford.

Washington State swamped Whitman and Puget Sound, minor teams. In years past the cougars have played at their best against Southern California. The Trojans showed little of their real strength in defeating Loyola, Occidental and Whittier.

St. Mary's used simple power plays in defeating Santa Clara university, 7 to 0. A crowd of 30,000 got the impression that this is Coach "Slip" Madigan's year to challenge for the National title.

The Bears lost to Santa Clara, 7 to 0. Then they whipped California Aggies 50 to 9 and Nevada 34 to 0. Bear supporters pointed out Nevada and St. Mary's had defeated S. F. U. by the same margin of a single touchdown which, on the basis of competitive scores at least, indicated California had the stronger team. Such optimism had no effect on the betting today.

Stanford's hope lies in the ends. Moscrip and Norgard. "Diamond Joe" Paglia, kicking ace of Santa Clara, must be prevented from holding the Indians against their own goal line as he held California. Coach "Tip" Thornhill's

"accordion" defense was impregnable against U. C. L. A., which only twice got beyond the 50-yard stripe.

U. C. L. A. plays tonight at Los Angeles against University of Utah, and is slightly favored.

The only other game of significance is Oregon State's engagement at Portland Saturday with Gonzaga. Oregon and Washington each beat Gonzaga by two touchdowns. The strength of Oregon States will be shown in comparison.

The Olympic club plays Nevada at Reno, Oregon plays Columbia of Portland at Eugene, Idaho meets Whitman, Montana engages Carroll college and Loyola opposes Arizona at Los Angeles.

NOTRE DAME AT NAVY

Navy has a football coaching staff of four men, three of them former Notre Dame stars. The "Irish" are Rip Miller, head coach; Christy Flanagan, backfield, and Johnny O'Brien, line.

POETS, AZTECS PRY OFF FOOTBALL LID

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(UP)—The Whittier Poets and the San Diego Aztecs headline the bill of Southern California conference football tonight in a game at Whittier.

The Poets reigned as favorites despite the loss of Johnny Chapin, one of the best ball carriers in the circuit. Chapin was placed on the shelf two weeks ago with a pair of broken ribs suffered in the U. S. C. encounter.

Caltech invades Redlands for another night game in the position of underdog. La Verne deserts conference territory for a game with Fresno State at Fresno and Santa Barbara also plays a non-conference opponent in California Christian at Santa Barbara.

S. A.-POMONA RIVALRY BEGAN WITH MUSTACHES IN FLOWER; 'PEATLANDERS' WON IN 1908

In those good old days when center: M. B. Patton, quarter: Harvey Baker and Dan Adams, halfbacks, and Fred Parsons, fullback.

Pomona also won every other contest with the Saints except the celebrated game of 1908. In 1909, it was 6-0, and in 1901 it was 23-6, although Santa Ana led, 6-0, at the half because of a 30-yard touchdown sprint by "Gavy" Cravath, then a Western Union messenger boy here, but later a major league baseball hero. Cravath didn't go to high school, but eligibility rules weren't as severe in 1901 as they are these days.

Then came a gap in Santa Ana-Pomona games until 1907, when Ralph C. Noble was engaged to teach the crude "Peatlanders" the finer points of the sport. Santa Ana was defeated, 19-0. The Saint lineup listed such players as Marshall Humphrey, Clarence Tedford, Cecil Dubois, Edgar Vanderlip, Clyde Whitney, Arthur Lutz, Walter Eaton and Ray Catland.

Santa Ana's lone victory over the Claremont varsity followed in 1908. The forward pass was just coming into its own, and the Saints employed this new-fangled play for a touchdown, Dubois to Roy Head. Later, a placement by Tedford lifted the count to 9-0, a humiliating defeat for the proud collegians.

Pomona got revenge in 1909, 34-0, and won again the next season, 20-0, the last time the schools got together on the gridiron.

Pomona won the first game, 10 to 5. The Santa Ana lineup included Tom Hill and Ray Velez, ends; Victor Walker and Herb Walker, tackles; Tom Hassler and J. Dirby, guards; Ross Waffle, never do it, however, their pride being what it is. . . . "Pop" Warner, back again in the east as head coach at Temple, rates timing as the most important item in developing an attack. . . . "Timing comes first." Pop will tell you, "and after that power, deception and plenty of passing. An abundance of power, however, will make deception less important."

Robert E. Lee Jr., the little rabbit who starred for Mercer against Army Saturday, is one of the greatest pass catchers ever to show in the East. . . . Lee, who weighs less than 150, catches them anywhere and in any position. . . . Army has another fine climax runner in Jack Buckner, the Waco wrecker being every bit as fast and elusive as his famed predecessors, "Red" Cagle and Ray Stocker. . . . Billy Petrolle, the old Fargo Express, is secretary of the Duluth (Minn.) Ornamental and Steel works and head man of the town's principal cigar store.

JAYSEE SQUAD IN GOOD SHAPE FOR INVASION

Conceded an even chance against their strongest non-conference opponent, Santa Ana's Dons invade Claremont tomorrow for a football tussle with Eugene Nixon's Pomona college varsity at 2:15 p.m.

The junior college squad has come through its hardest week of drill in fine condition, and will be at full strength with the exception of Jimmie Lash, brilliant end who has an injured shoulder and will be out of suit for two weeks. The Sagehens also are in excellent trim, and well prepared for Bill Cook's junior collegians. It will be Pomona's first official game of the season.

Line superiority probably will be the deciding factor in the Don-Sagehen tilt. Santa Ana and Pomona both have speedy backfields that will be hard to stop after crossing the line of scrimmage. Aerial maneuvers will play an important part in the contest.

Still undecided about his lineup, Coach Cook today was considering a starting combination of Frank Kroener and Paul Perinich, ends; Capt. "Bono" Koral and Miles Norton, tackles; Loren Lukens and Ray Nowotny, guards; Ray Hoar, center; "Porky" Bell, quarter; Harry McInteer and Wilburn Anderson, halfbacks; and Harold Welty, full, although he announced that several changes are probable.

Jack Fredericks, guard; Ray Hapes, quarter; Ted Needham, fullback; Clair Prehniger, "Tex" Bowden and Bob Mitchell, halves; Will Devine, tackle; Roy Waer, guard; and Bruce Handy, center, will be the first of the substitutions if the preceding combination opens the game.

Pomona will employ Don Plumb, Tustin sprint star, and Charles Austin at end; Sam Miller and Bob McCulley at tackle, Captain Laurie Lusk and Wes Scott at guard, and Homer Davis at center. In the Sagehen backfield will be Lewis Gleeck, tiny quarter; Fin Walker and Charles Longacre, halfbacks; and Clair Shaffer, 190-pound fullback.

H. LYTTLE NAMED COUNCILMAN AS KNUDSON OUTS

LA HABRA, Oct. 6.—Mayor John T. Knudson resigned as a member of the council Tuesday and A. L. Thurner was appointed by the council to succeed him as mayor. Thurner has been a member of the La Habra city council for five years or more. H. S. Lytle, real estate owner, was named as a new member of the council. Knudson's resignation has been expected for sometime as business interests require his time in Los Angeles. He moved his family to Los Angeles some months ago and has been making frequent trips to La Habra to care for his duties as mayor. Believing his removal to Los Angeles to be of a temporary nature, he held his position on the council until certain matters pertaining to the newly acquired water system were completed. He stated last night that it seemed that his stay in Los Angeles would be indefinite, but that he planned on returning to La Habra later.

A request for a permit to operate a dance hall in the old Hilbert block, was presented by H. Riley, who now has a sweet shop here. The matter was turned over to the health and sanitation committee, Thurner and Newson. The city clerk was instructed to write to the proper authorities, requesting the appointment of a police officer as an agent to renew driver's licenses in the city of La Habra. The renewal of the insurance on the city owned and operated cars and vehicles, which will expire on November 1, was limited to local licensed agents. L. M. Hopper stated that for sometime there had not been an active library board in La Habra, and that the present librarian, Mrs. Anna Garretson, has requested that such a board be again established in the city. A. J. Wilson was appointed by the council to act on this board.

HONOR COUPLE AT TEACHERS' PARTY

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 6.—Teachers of the elementary schools entertained with a party recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Goddard at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Allen. A shadow pantomime depicting the time Mr. Goddard left here early last summer for Boston, Mass., his wedding and the honeymoon trip back to California, was given, with Miss Gladys Summerfield reading sketches during the acting. The pantomime was presented by Howard Moore, Miss Marcela Turner, Miss Lois Durwood, Miss Marcia Carmichael, S. R. Fitz, Miss Betty Toland and Walter Lehnhardt. Mr. Goddard is a member of the faculty at the Hoover school. Miss Wenchell, of Santa Ana, gave three vocal numbers accompanied at the piano by Lawrence Allen. Mrs. Ethel Evans and Harvey Emley spoke briefly. At the refreshment hour a large ice cream cake, molded as a wedding cake and decorated with orange blossoms and topped with a miniature bride and groom, was wheeled into the room on a tea wagon and placed in front of Mr. Goddard, who cut the first piece. The cake was served with coffee. A walnut table was given to Mr. and Mrs. Goddard.

Both will be earthquake proof. According to the contractors, the work is expected to run until the middle of December. These jobs, with the contract for the penthouse on the jail in Santa Ana, work on which began the first of the week, will give employment to over 50 men.

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Amelia Haas, who was on the steamship Virginia during the recent hurricane in the Caribbean sea, has returned to her home here. During the storm Mrs. Haas, who is 82, quieted children on the ship by telling them stories. For two hours it seemed that every wave would sink the ship, Mrs. Haas recalled. Eight persons were injured and the pursuer, who was ill when the storm struck, died of pneumonia after being taken ashore at Panama.

CITY HALL REPAIRS ORDERED; SEAL BEACH TO ASK U. S. FUNDS

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 6.—At the regular meeting of the Seal Beach city council last night decision was made to repair the damage done to the city hall during the earthquake of March 10. According to a letter received from Austin and Wildman, architects, the damage, while not serious, should be repaired soon. The cost of repair was estimated at $550, this includes tearing down the upper portion of the south gable wall and rebuilding it, tying it in with an iron rod the full length of the building. It was also recommended that rods be put in at each end of the fire garage to avoid any future spreading of the walls. The inspection of the building revealed that there was no damage at or near the foundations.

The city attorney submitted a tentative outline of the application for federal funds for several projects. It is planned to establish a water plant and buy land and machinery; acquire beach parks and playgrounds including the extension of the Alamitos Bay State park into Seal Beach covering the beach frontage east of Alamitos bay to Eighth street in land before it is subdivided.

CAFE OWNERS GIVEN WARNING ON BEER SALES

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 6.—Following a report by Councilman George W. Wilson that a form of curb service was being practiced at two places in Laguna Beach where beer is sold, Police Chief Abe W. Johnson was instructed by Mayor Frank R. Champion to inform the proprietors that the city ordinance was being violated. According to Wilson, the beer was carried to the cars by customers and consumed. The ordinance forbids drinking in any vehicle on the public highway.

Mayor Champion reported at the meeting of the council Wednesday night that he had been asked if a new type of cigarette vending machine could be placed in this city. The customer takes a chance by putting in a penny. Literature of the manufacturers showed there is a profit of about 30 per cent in the selling of each package of cigarettes. City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey said the city's slot-machine ordinance forbids any machine to be used "that does not give the same identical return in each operation thereof."

The foot of Ocean avenue, between Moon's cafe and the bath house, was designated for the site of a drinking fountain executed by Ruth Peabody, Laguna Beach sculptor, and given to the city by Mrs. Isadora Kerr as a memorial to her sister, Miss Helen Weiser. The spot is to be made a beauty spot. Mayor Champion announced that the Woman's club will proceed with the placing of a fountain on the plaza at the foot of Laguna avenue that is being given to the city by Julia Bracken Wendt, noted Southern California sculptor. That site also had been desired for the Weiser fountain.

The city fathers went on record as favoring the improvement of yacht harbors by the federal government. Oliver A. Hill Jr. was appointed a member of the volunteer fire company on recommendation of Fire Chief P. J. Bushman.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is the best laxative for everybody. Senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore, ready for use. Member N. R. A.

FOR HUMAN NEEDS - MOBILIZE IS BATTLE CRY OF WORKERS IN SANTA ANA CHEST CAMPAIGN

"For Human Needs—Mobilize!" That is the 1933 slogan for Community Chest appeals throughout the nation. In Santa Ana the service report of the Salvation Army portrays in sharp relief the manner in which human needs can be served by a Chest agency, when citizens mobilize and lend their bit to a great cause by contribution to the Community Chest," said Judge J. G. Mitchell, chairman of the laymen directors of the Santa Ana citadel of the Salvation Army.

"As I study the Community Chest appeal I realize that it has a four-point purpose. I size these points up as relief or welfare, social training, character building and humanitarian efforts. Those are big words. In simpler words I find in my first group those who have no food and no roof over their heads. In the second we find families and homes held together, individuals made stronger by proper advice. In the third are boys and girls, mostly. Service turns their idle hours into fine youth and good citizenship. In the last we find care for orphans, for those who are diseased and those who are disabled.

"I don't care to make comparisons. Every phase of this work is going to help President Roosevelt lead this nation to higher ground. None of this service can break down. It's the duty of every community to keep it going. I am proud of the record made here by the Army. Its efforts reach well into the field of service aimed at by Community Chest agencies. Santa Ana must raise $33,500 in the Community Chest campaign of October 16 to 23 if Chest agencies carry on their work properly," Judge Mitchell concluded.

The service report of the Salvation Army, made by Ensign Torgerson in connection with Judge Mitchell's statement, is the story of the helping hand. Here are a few of the figures on relief work: 7339 transients assisted; 16,054 meals served; 7476 beds given; 1041 family cases; 4116 times bread and milk given to families; 624 garments and pairs of shoes given to unfortunates; 207 Christmas baskets given; 320 children to receive Christmas toys. In young people's work 3090 attended various meetings. In evangelistic effort there were 427 indoor and outdoor meetings held, while 1680 hours were spent in visitation.

"The Army's share in the budget this year is $5500," remarked W. D. Ranney, chairman of the budget committee. "A study of the Army report shows that its service will reach thousands. The Chest campaign must go over so that each agency will have its quota to carry on good work," he added.

FIREBUGS CAUSE LARGE PORTION OF FIRE LOSS

One half of the fire loss in Los Angeles is due to incendiary fires, and the resulting losses are paid by all buyers of fire insurance in Santa Ana and elsewhere, thus making it advisable and necessary for all citizens and business men to back up the fire department in helping to eliminate fires due to arson.

This was the message brought to members of the Santa Ana Lions club yesterday noon at Ketter's by Capt. Paul T. Wolfe, chief of the arson squad of the Los Angeles Fire Department.

The speaker gave some startling facts and figures to show the great fire loss which all insurance buyers must pay for, inasmuch as fire rates are based upon losses, and illustrated his address with slides depicting the various methods used by firebugs.

Many incendiary Los Angeles has on an average 30 fires every 24 hours, Wolfe declared. One-fourth of these fires are incendiary, but cause approximately one-half of the monetary loss, he said. As showing the enormity of the problem, Wolfe announced that the total paid out in California for all insurance last year was $336,000,000, of which $161,000,000 was for fire insurance alone.

Ninety-five per cent of incendiary fires are set by foreign-born people, largely of three nationalities, the speaker said, and the firemen can usually tell by the methods used not only the nationality of the firebug, but the sex as well.

Fires are often set by people who are hours away at the time the blaze breaks out, due sometimes to time clock devices, cigarettes which burn for 36 minutes and candles which can be purchased to burn as long as 960 hours.

Arson Squad Valuable "There are comparatively few firebugs," said Captain Wolfe, "but fires seem to follow them wherever they go. We traced eight or nine fires to one individual, but the jinx seems to be broken following an arrest, whether he is convicted or not. For the firebug is a cowardly person.

"The arson squad of our city, Santa Ana, and all other cities are putting money into the taxpayers' pockets through lower insurance rates, which are based upon losses, and it is to your direct interest to reduce those rates by cutting down losses. Fires are sometimes regarded as good advertising by the fire insurance companies, who do not always cooperate with us, and it is untrue that we are working for those companies. We are working for the public and helping to keep their fire insurance rates down.

Orval Lyons was chairman of the day, with Fire Chief Luxembourg and Fire Marshal Boyd Slesper co-operating with the speaker in putting on the program. New Lions introduced at the meeting were Contractor Therman Means and Howard Barrows.

Announcement was made that all Lions and their wives are invited to participate in a steak dinner at the Anaheim city park next Monday evening at 6:30, preceding the Anaheim-Santa Ana Lions ball game. Also that Judge F. C. Drumm will be the speaker and Officer Stinson, the Singing Cop, will provide musical entertainment next Friday when the Santa Ana Lions make a visitation to the Long Beach club.

Under the rules of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the world governing body for air sports, existing air records must be bettered by at least 4.89 miles per hour before a new record is considered established.

REFRIGERATION IS STRESSED BY FOOD EXPERT

"Refrigeration is an indispensable part of the efficiently operated kitchen," says Miss Louise Lane, home-economist, who will conduct The Register cooking school at the West Coast theater, October 18, 19 and 20.

The J. C. Horton Furniture company and the Alpha Beta and Orange County markets are co-sponsors of the cooking classes with The Register.

According to Miss Lane much time and study have been given recently to the science of home-making.

Probably the most important item of household equipment is the refrigerator, she declares. First because it protects the food supply and keeps it wholesome and pure until prepared and served; second because it offers a most attractive method for preparing many unusual dishes with which to delight the family; third because it is a time saver.

Refrigeration for the cooking school will be furnished by The J. C. Horton Furniture company and the latest type of Kelvinator will be installed on the stage of the West Coast theater. A display of Kelvinators also will be exhibited in the lobby of the theater during the three days of the cooking school.

J. C. Horton, before taking over the distribution of any line of electric refrigerators made a complete study of the more widely advertised lines. It was not until he had thoroughly looked over all makes that he decided to feature the Kelvinator.

The Kelvinator to be used at the cooking school is the product of the pioneer manufacturer of domestic electric refrigeration and the largest exclusive manufacturer of electrical refrigeration in the world today. Just as Kelvinator Corporation was first in the field of electric refrigeration manufacture, so is it the pioneer in all refinements and improvements. Seventeen years have been devoted by the Kelvinator Corporation in the field of electric refrigeration.

Kelvinator's cabinet division has been building refrigerators for 52 years. This experience is unequalled in the industry. Kelvinator was the first successful domestic electric refrigerator. Many of the first Kelvinators built are still operating satisfactorily, and manufacturing improvements made during the last few years, assure even longer, more efficient service from those being made today.

Miss Lane, who will conduct the school, is expected to arrive in Santa Ana late next week. The school will open on the following Wednesday. Classes will be held each day from 10 a. m. until 12 noon.

The Alpha Beta and Orange County markets will furnish all foodstuffs and meats. In addition several baskets of food will be given away during the three days.

PROBATE SOUGHT FOR MARKS WILL

Estimating the estate as valued at not more than $2000 the will of Mrs. Martha J. Marks, pioneer Santa Ana woman, has been filed for probate by her son, Judge Emerson J. Marks, of the fourth district appellate court. The majority of real estate owned by Mrs. Marks, it was indicated by the instrument, had been disposed of by deed sometime prior to her death.

Mrs. Marks, who died September 30, last, at the hospital of her son, Allan C. Van Velzer, in Gardena, disposed of her personal property, including fine linens, dishes, pictures, jewelry and other belongings in a will dated June 30, 1931, in which the following heirs were named:

Allan C. Van Velzer, Gardena; Ernest F. Marks and Emerson J. Marks, sons, both of Santa Ana; Mrs. Edna Marks, Mrs. Odell Marks, both of Santa Ana; Mrs. Edwina Van Velzer, Gardena; Lucille Van Velzer, Los Angeles; Marion Van Velzer, San Francisco; and her grandson, Adrian Marks, Santa Ana and his wife, Mrs. Blanche Marks, Santa Ana.

The only piece of property that had not been bequeathed to her heirs prior to her death was the property in Newport Beach which she bequeathed to her son, Allan Van Velzer, together with all furnishings and personal property in the house, personal property in her home at 827 North Birch street, not otherwise disposed of in the will and her stock in the Onida Community Limited.

Besides his share of the personal effects and property of his mother, Ernest Marks received stock in the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, held by Mrs. Marks, and money held as a revolving fund and such stock as she held in the Walnut and Orange associations.

Judge Marks, who was named executor of the estate was bequeathed his mother's stock in Richfield Consolidated Oil company, in addition to a share of his mother's personal belongings and effects. The remainder of her personal property was disposed of piece by piece among the other heirs.

U. S. Farm Leader To Give Talk At Whittier Monday

"The New Deal in Agriculture" will be the general topic to be discussed by E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, at Whittier next Monday night, according to R. J. McGadden, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

O'Neal's talk to be given at the Woman's clubhouse in Whittier is the first of a series of talks to be given by him in California.

In announcing the meeting McGadden stressed the importance of O'Neal's message by saying that for 13 years the farmers of the middle west and south have received a price for their products that is below the parity of purchasing power with the things they buy. "This," McGadden said "is recognized as being one of the paramount causes of the depression.

"The meeting is open to any farmer or leader who is interested in the farm problem and the steps that are being taken to bring agriculture out of the depression in which it has been struggling."

WARNING AGAINST HAZARDS OF FIRE IN FORESTS SOUNDED BY COUNTY AND STATE RANGERS

State Forest Ranger Joe Scherman of Orange and A. M. Longacre, federal forest ranger of Corona yesterday joined in sounding a warning against carelessness in the forests during the hazardous time from now until the winter rains start.

BARBERS GIVEN CHANCE TO GET OLD PRICE LIST

Fear that barbers of Orange county would be forced to raise prices of haircuts to 65 cents from the former 50-cent level was alleviated today following a meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles yesterday, which was attended by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools and chairman of the Orange County NRA Compliance board, and George A. Raymer, secretary of the chamber of commerce and head of the NRA organization work here.

Both men brought back word from Edwin M. Raughter, state commissioner of corporations, that barbers in Orange county could maintain the former 50-cent price for haircuts under certain conditions.

These conditions are that the barbers of the county unite and establish their own price schedule, adopt it in a code and present the code at a special meeting for Orange county barbers which Daugherty will hold in the State building, Los Angeles, next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Most of the barbers in the county, apparently, favor the 50-cent price, believing that the higher price would drive business away from their shops.

Several delegations of barbers from all parts of Orange county came to see Raymer yesterday afternoon in an attempt to straighten out the apparent tangle on the price situation. Some barbers in the county had raised the price to 65 cents Wednesday when the state code was supposed to go into effect, believing that it was mandatory that they do so. Others maintained former price levels awaiting official notice to raise prices.

Absence of humidity in the air due to recent north winds and increased temperature, they said, have increased the hazard. Visitors to the forests were warned against smoking and lighting camp fires except in the areas provided for that purpose. The rangers repeated the warning that permits must be obtained to burn brush.

They said that Silverado and Trabuco canyons are open to the public but the Cleveland National Forest will remain closed.

At the time they sounded their warnings both rangers declared that men in the state and federal forest camps have been specially trained to handle fires from the angle of protecting their own lives as well as property.

The men, the rangers said, are drilled to handle fires efficiently so that supposedly controlled fires will not again go out of control. At the same time their training instructs them to prevent risks to themselves or the rangers.

Each of the camps has a special "fire suppression officer" who trained the men in crews of 25 men at a time. This training included strict orders to obey only their own leaders and pay no attention to outsiders while fighting fire.

This training the rangers said was given because it was realized that the majority of boys in the forestry camps were from other states and were inexperienced with either brush or forest lands.

Newlyweds Arrive From Honeymoon Following Nevada Marriage

Returning from a swift but comprehensive tour of Nevada including Boulder Dam points in Arizona and Imperial Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gohres proceeded at once to their own home, a pleasant place awaiting them at 1902 South Ross street, where they are enjoying cooler honeymoon weather than that afforded by the desert stretches of Nevada.

Mrs. Gohres was formerly Miss Nettie E. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Jones, 418 East Walnut street. Graduating from Santa Ana High school and Orange County Business college, she entered the employ of Security First National bank. For four of her half dozen years of service there, she has been in charge of the bookkeeping department.

It was during high school days that her romance with Mr. Gohres began, the latter also having completed his course there later to graduate from the Chicago Engineering works. He is now head of his own business plant, the Gohres Electrical service, a member of the Twenty-Third club and president of the local chapter Gamma Eta Kappa.

It was in Las Vegas, Nev., that the young couple took their wedding vows on Tuesday, October 2, before Judge Frank M. Ryan. The bride was very smart in black and white costume, her suit of tweed with little black and white hat to match, and slippers, gloves and purse in black. A corsage cluster of white gardenias completed her modish appearance.

Plans for a more extended trip have been deferred until cooler weather, and in the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. Gohres are receiving friends in their own home. The bride has been incentive for a series of parties and showers ever since news of the imminent wedding date became known.

Mexican Dances Given Following Dinner Session

Wryende Maedgen club members of Y. W. C. A. spent an interesting evening Tuesday in the Y. W. rooms, where dinner was followed by a program and class sessions.

Miss Beulah Dudgeon presided over the affair, during which the little Misses Margaret and Celia Yana, students at Fremont school, gave Mexican dances in native costumes. Club members spent the remainder of the evening in art craft and chorus classes, newly organized.

During the business session announcement was made of an informal dance to be held next Tuesday following the weekly dinner meeting of the club.

All young business girls of the community are invited to attend meetings of the club.

Modern Poetry Group Begins Year's Meetings

Serving as a pleasant introduction to their year of programs was the meeting held Tuesday afternoon by members of Ebell Modern Poetry section, who were gathered in the hospitable home of Mrs. Robert C. Northcott, 1318 Spurgeon street.

Mrs. Lillian D. Pritchett had arranged the program, giving a review of Archibald MacLeish and his work.

During the business session letters were read from two absent members of the section, Mrs. L. S. Smith and Mrs. S. B. Marshall, who have severed connections with the group for a year. Announcement was made that the November meeting of the section will be held in the home of Miss Martha Ritchie, with Mrs. Alice Hatch to review the work of Laurence Bin-yon.

At the refreshment hour tea was poured at a daintily laid table by Mrs. Harwood Sharp and Miss Mabel Whiting. Bright-hued blooms had been arranged in artistic bouquets throughout the rooms of the home. Some of the guests spent this pleasant interval in the gardens and others remained indoors.

New Member Admitted To Mayflower Club

When Mayflower club members met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. William Lawrence, 1022 Halliday street, they were disappointed at not meeting Mrs. J. A. Cubley, of Corona, mother of Mrs. Lawrence, who had expected to be present with a co-hostess but was unavoidably detained.

An afternoon of quiet chat and needlework was enjoyed and plans were made for the gala celebration which the club holds each Christmas. It is the present plan as decided at Tuesday's meeting, to stage the dinner in Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Lawrence used individual trays for serving an inviting menu, garnishing each tray with flowers to harmonize with those brightening her home.

Mrs. L. A. Gowdy was welcomed to membership sharing the pleasant afternoon with Mesdames S. F. Bernier, W. A. Maryme, J. W. Parkinson, F. T. Isherwood, J. D. Sanborn, E. T. Smith, V. C. Shid-ler and the hostess, Mrs. Lawrence.

The club will meet on November 7 with Mrs. Shidder and Mrs. Parkinson in the Shidder home, 1129 South Garney street.

Hermosa O. E. S.

Responding to announcements that Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., would observe Past Matrons' and Past Patrons' night, nearly half a hundred of those officers assembled Monday night in Masonic temple for the chapter session and its subsequent party features.

Mrs. Marian Wallace and W. E. McConnell, worthy matron and patron, and their officers accorded the usual courtesies to the honor guests and several others of note, including Mrs. Elsie Gillogly of Orange, deputy grand matron; Mrs. Marie Thurston, matron of Laguna Beach chapter, and Mrs. Clara Shook, matron of Yorba Linda chapter; Mrs. Willis, a past matron of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker of Upland chapter; Mrs. Conley of Genoa, Ohio; Chester Knisley, Yorba Linda, and others.

Chapter session was followed by a program and social hour in the banquet room, with Mrs. Leota Allen as chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis as kitchen chairman, and Mrs. Hannah Stuessy, general dining room chairman for the year. The guest table for past matrons and patrons was especially decorated, and favors were small gavel. In addition, each past matron received a jar of jam from Mrs. Wallace, while handkerchiefs were presented the past patrons.

Early days of the chapter were recalled by Mrs. M. J. Medlock and Dr. John Wehrly, among the earliest officers to serve. Mrs. John Harvey, president of the Past Matrons' association, gave a very interesting talk.

Program features included a dance by Eleanor Dietrich, accompanied by Miss Goldman; readings by Audrey Isbell Peterson; whistling solos, one dedicated to the honor guests, by Mrs. Katherine Grover, and a comedy sketch, "The Nut House," by Willis Deufree Billips and Robert Deufree.

Announcement was made that Hermosa chapter would be dark on Monday night, October 16, because of Grand Chapter, and that Amber Circle would hold a benefit card party instead, open to the public.

Church Societies

Proving of special interest at the meeting of Senior J. O. C. Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Etta Powers, 614 South Birch street, were motion pictures of China, Egypt and the Panama Canal, shown by Miss Lula Minter; Miss Minter related incidents of her visit to the foreign countries.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Minter, Miss Edith Watkins, Mrs. Carrie Guldge and Mrs. Jessie Fairies. Mrs. Amy Baird, president, presided, and Miss Nell Clingan conducted devotions. Mrs. M. E. Geeting, a guest, gave readings.

Refreshments were served to the 36 members and guests present.

United Presbyterian

Delegates to a missionary rally to be held October 19 at Riverside were appointed Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the United Presbyterian Women's Missionary society in the church. Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. J. T. Raitt were named delegates. Mrs. W. H. Herring and Miss Minnie Cowan, alternates.

Mrs. W. P. McBurney presided and Mrs. Hale Collins led devotions. "The Christian Mission in America" was the topic. Mrs. W. H. Hoy discussed "Sharing." Mrs. Albert Finley, "Bridging the Generations," and Mrs. T. L. Warren, "Youth Demands Reality."

Plans were made for a missionary tea to be held with Mrs. W. M. Smart, 714 North Main street, the date to be announced later. Mrs. Fred Millen reported on the School of Missions held in Los Angeles.

The next meeting will be held November 1. The Ladies' Aid met in the morning and tied a comforter. A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon, with Mesdames Scott, Torrens, Lewis Endres, William Herring, William Elisele and J. B. Stewart as hostesses.

Dinner and Program

Those who have become members of First Baptist church during the past year and a half were welcomed at dinner and program given Wednesday night in the church under the auspices of the Women's society. Three hundred new and old members were in attendance.

Mrs. E. A. Bell, society president, was in charge of the meeting, and presided as hostess at the table where officers and the church pastor, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, and Mrs. Owings were seated. Miss Lula Minter was hostess at the table where those having birthdays in September and October were seated as honor guests. Orange tapers and horns of plenty were decorations used.

Mesdames L. C. Fairbanks, Warren Brakeman, C. M. Holmes, W. A. Atkinson and the Mesdames Gertrude Minor and Lula Minter reported on the annual women's house party held at Pacific Palisades.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a pageant, "Tournament of Lights" in charge of Mrs. Warren Brakeman, Women's society program chairman for the year. She outlined the theme for the next 12 months as "Jesus, the Light of the Year" and "Light on Life's Highway."

The pageant was eloquent of the theme. Taking part were Mesdames E. A. Davidson, John Newcomer, George Stevens, Rollo Hays, Jennie Wheeler, Earl Frever, Albert Hill, J. P. Williams, Charles G. Nalle, Mac Robbins, W. E. Harrison, Fanny Reeve, Elmer Steffensen, Clara Tollaro, William Dennis, John Swanke, O. S. Catland, Frank Miller, L. B. Complimenting their teacher, Miss Eva Hey, who returned recently from a trip east, members of the Gleaners' class of First Evangelical church gave a surprise party recently in her home, 1216 French street.

Miss Gertrude Thee planned the pleasant evening, spent in doing fancy work. Miss Hey gave an interesting account of her stay in Missouri and Colorado.

At the close of the evening, the Mesdames Gertrude and Amanda Thee served refreshments which had been provided by class members.

Those present were the honoree, Miss Hey, and the Mesdames Viola Andres, Joanna Day, Laura Malin, Vera Malin, Dorothy Lutz, Lillian Morrow, Grace Hoefler, Mildred Brubaker, Katharine Trumpy, Velma Witt, Gertrude Thee and Amanda Thee.

Mrs. R. R. Lutes, president, conducted the business session and Mrs. Haldeman in charge of devotions, discussed the year's project, "Road Mending," with special reference to the "Wilderness Road." Mrs. J. W. McCormack had charge of the program of informative short talks. These included "Motion Pictures and the Home" by Mrs. B. H. Sharpless; "Child Labor and Sweat Shops" by Mrs.

Writing Club Members Welcomed To Lovely Hillside Home

The beautiful hillside home above El Modena of which Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Marshall, formerly of 2116 North Main street, so recently took possession, was hospitably opened Tuesday night to members of Quill Pen club. The landscaped hillside, the tree-shaded pool in its little formal garden, the patio, and the beautiful view which the place commands, all came in for their share of admiration from the club members.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell presided over the formal program meeting, which was one of the most interesting in point of contributions, which members have ever shared. Miss Verna Wells had an entertaining little tale, "Hot Cakes;" Mrs. Frank was developing a supernatural theme in "The Gilded;" Mrs. N. E. Wells succeeded in connecting two diametrically opposed happenings as suggested by a popularity weekly magazine, which she titled "Old Stuff: Won and Lost."

Mrs. Roy Winchester read an amusing tale from a series of stories of young married life, and Mrs. E. Nell Stanley had a cleverly constructed article on antique hunting.

Different points in each contribution were discussed critically as the club members enjoyed apple pie a la mode and coffee, served by Mrs. Marshall with the assistance of several in the group.

Mrs. Harry M. Smith will entertain the club in two weeks in her North Broadway home, when manuscripts will be due from Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Elliott.

Present Tuesday night were the hostesses, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. Marshall Harris, Mrs. C. M. McClintock, Mrs. Maude Goff, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. E. Nell Stanley, Mrs. Frank was, Mrs. Roy Winchester, Mrs. Blanche Brown and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Hostesses Plan Party As Birthday Event

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Morgan accepted a waffle supper invitation Tuesday night from Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Stevens and Mrs. Stevens' sister, Miss Opal Brownlow, 1309 Maple street, the two men of the group were unaware that the supper was a preliminary to the birthday party of later evening hours.

Arrival of a merry group of young people was their first intimation of the party plans made by Mrs. Stevens and Miss Brownlow. Mr. Morgan's anniversary was on Monday, and that of Mr. Stevens was yesterday, so the party was arranged to come midway between the two.

Flowers in bright colors which had served as decorations for the waffle supper, were equally appropriate for the succeeding affair. Varied entertainment sped the evening hours, and especially enjoyable was the impromptu demonstration by Mr. Morgan of his ability to make fudge.

At the refreshment hour little Miss Betty Jeanne Stevens of the home, presented a birthday cake whose lettering and candles in pink, showed that it was designed for both honor guests. Served with fruit punch, devilfood cake and home-made ice cream, it proved a happy finale to the evening.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and their young daughter, Betty Jeanne, and Miss Brownlow, were Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cottrell, the Mesdames Vivian Switzer, Helen Switzer, Juanita Patton, Messrs. Floyd Haskell, Otis Beale and Warren Bramley.

Former Local Soloist Spends Day Here

Madame Manuela V. Budrow-Rafferty of Los Angeles, was the guest Wednesday of relatives and friends in this city where she was filling a radio engagement that night. Madame Budrow-Rafferty is now soprano soloist with the Classical Spanish trio, just formed by L. E. Behmyer, veteran Los Angeles impresario.

The trio, which will open its season the last week in October with engagements in Long Beach, recently arrived from Madrid, violinist, Senor Armatas de Love, pianist, and Madame Budrow-Rafferty, soprano. Madame Budrow-Rafferty, formerly of this city, is to be soloist on the opening program of the Schubert-Wa Wan club in Los Angeles on October 11.

S. M. Davis, "Temperance and Beer" by R. R. Lutes, and "Changing Public Opinion About the Glory of War" by the Rev. George A. Warner.

Mrs. George A. Warner concluded the program with the beautiful solo, "On Life's Highway" with Mrs. B. B. Snow as accompanist.

Announcement was made that the annual Thank Offering address would be made by Dr. Warner on November 5.

Mother and Daughter Preside at Duo of Bridge Affairs

Entertaining at the second of two functions with which they have enlivened the current week, Mrs. George S. Briggs and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Timmons, yesterday received a group of friends at a contract bridge luncheon in the Briggs home, 644 North Broadway.

Yesterday, all varieties of dahlias in the vivid shades of autumn were to be seen throughout the rooms, with the more delicate hues of tiny pompons gleaming like opals from the center of each linen-spread table for the luncheon hour. Much the same decorative effect prevailed at the earlier affair, given Monday afternoon and also finding its setting in the home of Mrs. Briggs.

Table prizes were awarded on each occasion, those holding high scores yesterday including Mrs. Earl S. Morrow, Mrs. Charles P. Boyer, Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Mrs. Volney Tubbs. Results of Monday afternoon's play brought prizes to Mrs. W. E. Winslow, Mrs. Wade Warner, Mrs. John W. Walls of Anaheim, and Mrs. Z. Bertrand West.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

MISSIONARY TO KOREA IN TALK ON CONDITIONS

ORANGE, Oct. 6.—Miss Grace Dillingham, missionary to Korea, addressed members of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church yesterday afternoon, speaking on the subject of "Progress Made Among Korean Women." Miss Dillingham said that the women of that country are now moving about more freely than they did 20 years ago and that until recently a woman of that country was never permitted to show herself in public.

While women are now beginning to take an active part in the affairs of the country, there are still many evils for the missionary to erase, she declared. Two of the most prominent are devil worship and unsanitary living conditions, she stated.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Carrie Riddle. Several committee reports were made. Miss Lula Kenyon gave a report on finances and made several recommendations.

Mrs. Fred Lentz read a paper on "Is It Safe to be Cheerful?" after which a short skit was presented by Mrs. L. L. Williams and Miss Lula Kenyon. Special music was presented by Miss Zara Sargent, who sang "I've Done My Work," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Mrs. Clara Allen was elected to take the place of Miss Kenyon as treasurer, since Miss Kenyon has been elected as district treasurer.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

BEGIN HERE TODAY

"Bonnie" Dundee is in New York investigating the murder of Juanita Selim and Dexter Sprague, and learns from Seneca Hart, successful stage star, that Nita married in 1918, was a good actress, but not divorced. In 1922, a picture of Nita appeared with a story about the suicide of a husband who had married after he thought she was dead. Four

Nita comes to Hamilton, after showing strange excitement over pictures of Hamilton people, and demands $10,000 in cash. Dundee wonders if this were "black alimony" from a husband who had married after he thought she was dead. Four maid's room in the basement. In the basement, Dundee finds traces of the connection, although the murderer has had opportunity to remove the more obvious traces of his work. After he is fully confident he knows how Nita was killed, he drops in on Penny Crain, who is playing anagrams with her mother. They forms with the wooden letters the names of all the guests at Nita Selim's unfortunate bridge party, and suddenly forms a new name. He now knows who killed Nita.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLVII

"I fail to see any necessity for all this secrecy and hocus-pocus," District Attorney Sanderson protested irritably. "Why the devil don't you come clean and give us the low-down—if you have it!—on this miserable business, instead of this halfhearted summoning Captain Strawn to my office, so that you can give orders to his assistant."

Before Dundee could answer, Captain Strawn came to his assistance.

"I worked with this boy for pretty near a year, Bill, and never yet did he fail to make good when he said he had a pot on to boil. If he says it will boil over this evening, provided we help him, boil over it will, or I don't know Bonnie Dundee!"

Sanderson scowled, but capitulated. "All right! What do you want?" "Thanks Chief! And thanks, Captain!" Dundee cried with heartfelt gratitude. "First, I want to be excused from attending the adjourned inquests into the two murders, scheduled for 3 o'clock today."

"O. K." Sanderson agreed shortly. "Second, after about an hour of routine stuff, I wish you'd ask for another adjournment until tomorrow, on the plea that important developments are expected today."

"O. K. again!" "Third, I'd like you personally to request the appearance of every person connected in any way with each of the murders, in your office this afternoon at four o'clock—so the whole bunch will be kept together and have no chance to go to their homes or anywhere else until I'm ready for them. You can say that, owing to the illness of your mother during the investigations, you want to question everyone personally."

"Do you want all the servants brought here, too?" Sanderson asked. "None but Lydia Carr," Dundee answered. "After about an hour's innocuous questioning, please invite them to accompany you to the Selim house. For that"—and he grinned—"is where the pot is scheduled to boil over. I'd like everybody to be there by 5:15."

"Where do I come in?" Captain Strawn demanded, almost jealously. "Now that you are no longer looking for a New York gunman, I suppose you have plenty of plainclothesmen at your disposal?" Dundee asked, and was instantly sorry he had reminded his former chief of the collapse of his cherished and satisfying theory.

"Plenty," Strawn answered gruffly. "How many will you need?"

"Enough to keep every person on Mr. Sanderson's invitation list under strictest observation until—the pot boils over," Dundee replied.

"When do you want them to get on the job?" "As soon as they can do so after you get back to your office."

"Are they to follow the whole gang clear out to the Selim house?" "Most decidedly! After the unwilling guests are safely within the house, your boys must guard the premises so that no one leaves without permission."

"That's all as good as done."

Strawn assured him. "Now—about them inquiries you asked me to make yesterday of the secretary of the American Legion." He drew a scrap of paper from his breast pocket. "I find that John Drake, Peter Dunlap and Clive Hammond were all in service, in the 34th Division, which was held up late in January, 1918, for nearly two weeks in Hoboken, before the War Department could get transports to send 'em to France. Miles, who enlisted the day war was declared, was wounded and shipped home late in 1917. He was discharged as unfit for further service—spinal operation—from a New Jersey base hospital on Jan. 12, 1918. Furthermore, Judge Marshall was in New York the whole winter of 1917-18, attached to the Red Cross in some legal capacity. He donated his services and—"

"All that doesn't matter now," Captain but thanks just the same," Dundee interrupted. "Now if you will both excuse me, I've got a lot of work to do before five o'clock today!"

Dundee had not exaggerated. That Monday was one of the busiest he had ever spent in all the 27 years of his life. He began, rather strangely, by visiting half a dozen of Hamilton's hardware stores, exhibiting a peculiar instrument and making annoying inquiries as to when and to whom it had been sold. But at his sixth port of call success so completely rewarded his efforts that he was jubilant when he bade the mystified proprietor good day, a signed statement reposing in his wallet.

Two other calls—both in office buildings—took up only an hour of his time, and a taxicab delivered him at police headquarters just as the factory whistles were sirening the news that it was 12 o'clock.

He was lucky enough to find the fingerprint expert, Carraway, in his cubbyhole of an office, his desk almost crowded out by immense filing cabinets.

Five minutes later Dundee sat at that desk, photographs of Dexter Sprague's dead body, just as it had been discovered on the floor of the trophy room in the Miles home, and a labeled set of fingerprints spread out before him.

"You're sure there can have been no mistake?" he asked. "No chance that these fingerprint photographs were reversed when the prints were made?"

"Not a chance—with my system!" Carraway retorted positively. "Fime!" Dundee cried. "May I take these photographs?—You have copies, I presume?"

It was half-past two o'clock when Dundee, after a much needed lunch, parked his car in the driveway of one of the most splendid houses overlooking Mission Lakes—a home whose master and mistress were now attending an inquest into two murders.

Half an hour later he climbed into his roadster again, his head spinning. "Did I say ingenious?" he marveled.

He drove directly to the Selim house, for he had much to do before the arrival of Sanderson's compulsory guests at 5:15.

His first visit there was to a small room in the basement—a dark cubbyhole next to the coal room. He had looked it carefully after exploring it the day before, for he had taken no chance on leaving unguarded—as he had found it—treasure worth more to him than its weight in gold.

And queer treasure it was that he extracted now—a coiled length of electric wire, which he and Ralph Hammond had measured the day before, with a triumphant excitement: a box of thumb tacks, many of them surprisingly bent at the point; an augur with a set of bits of varying sizes, a step-ladder, and a hammer. If Dexter Sprague had not overestimated the amount of electric wire needed for the job of installing an alarm bell between Nita's bedroom and Lydia's...

Dundee was about to close the tool chest when his eyes fell upon a piece of hardware he had not expected ever to find, although he had known of its existence for more than an hour.

At 5:15 he was entirely ready for D. A. Sanderson, Captain Strawn and their party of indignant and unwilling guests.

"Oh, Mr. Dundee!" Carolyn Drake squealed. "You're not going to make us play that awful 'death hand' again, are you?"

They were all crowding about him—the men and women who had been Nita Selim's guests at her last bridge and cocktail party....

"Not only are the bridge tables exactly where they were at this time on the evening of May 24," Dundee answered so significantly that all stopped chattering to listen, "but everything else in the house is precisely as it was then. Fortunately, not even the electricity has been cut off! But to make sure I have forgotten nothing, I wish you would all follow me into Mrs. Selim's bedroom and look for yourselves."

Like sheep, they crowded into the little foyer and on into the bedroom. There stood the big bronze lamp, set squarely in front of the window frame and in a direct line with the musical powder box on dead Nita's dressing table.

At 5:25, Penny Crain, Karen Marshall, Carolyn Drake and Flora Miles, who had been requisitioned by Dundee to play the part of the murdered woman, were seated at table No. 2, and behind Karen's chair stood Lois Dunlap. Clive Hammond and his new wife were again together in the solarium. But there Dundee's restaging of the original scene in the tragic drama ended. Everyone else, including Lydia Carr and Peter Dunlap, were huddled together in a far corner of the living room.

"Now, Mr. Miles!" Dundee called. "Your cue! Never mind the comedy about 'How's tricks?' Simply go into the dining room, with Mrs. Dunlap, to mix cocktails. You'll find all the ingredients still on the sideboard, exactly as they were when Mrs. Selim sent you to mix drinks on May 24.... And Mrs. Miles, will you, pretending that you are Nita Selim, go to powder your face at Mrs. Selim's dressing table?"

Her face white and drawn, Flora Miles stumbled from the room, just as her husband, dumb for once with rage, entered the dining room with Lois Dunlap.

MURDER BRIDGE

the bridge table, his handsome head upflung, his brown eyes fixed upon the widened brown eyes of Penny Crane!

"Dad!" the girl breathed; then, joyously: "Oh, Dad! You've come home!"

But Dundee halted the reconciliation with a stern word of command. "Please join the group in the corner, Mr. Crane!"

Regardless of the ensuing hubbub Dundee strode into the dining room, where Tracey Miles stood at the sideboard, pouring whiskey from an almost empty decanter into a small glass.

"May I drink Scotch Tracey has poured for me, Mr. Dundee?" Mrs. Dunlap asked shakily, leaning against the big round table. "Yes, but—Silence, please!" he cried, as there came the first faint, tinkling notes of Juanita, from Nita's musical powder box, renetrating the thin wall between the bedroom and dining room.

"As I have said," the detective spoke loudly and clearly above the tinkle of music, "everything is now exactly as it was when Nita Selim was murdered! Permit me to show you all how that murder was accomplished!"

A chair at the bridge table was overturned. Lois Dunlap almost choked on her drink of Scotch. Women screamed. In a few seconds every person in the living room, including the district attorney and Strawn, was huddled in the wide opening into the dining room, their eyes fixed in horror upon Bonnie Dundee.

He spoke again, his voice very clear, but slow and weighted with a dreadful significance.

"Mrs. Dunlap, step on the bell beneath the dining table!"

Lois Dunlap dropped the empty whiskey glass, her pleasant face going blank with amazement.

"Step on that bell, Mrs. Dunlap—just as you did before!"

As if hypnotized, Lois Dunlap began to grope with the toe of her right pump for the slight bulge under the rug which indicated the position of the bell used for summoning the maid from the kitchen. With a strangled cry Tracey Miles lunged across the few feet which separated the woman and himself, seized her arm and whirled her violently away from the table.

"Do you want to kill my wife, too?" he panted, his usually florid face the color of putty.

How many days in the month do you feel your best? You can add to these sunshine days by simply obeying nature's laws.

The first of these laws is regular elimination. Avoid common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help aid regularly. ALL-BRAN also contains twice the iron of an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much more pleasant than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Directions on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Cup of hot tomato-beef broth

Waldorf Salad:
1-2 sliced ripe apple
2 stalks celery, diced
3 walnut meats, sliced
Lettuce
3 tbsps. mineral oil mayonnaise
1 slice of Zwiebach, unbuttered
Clear tea, no sugar
Celery total21c

This emergency broth is made with a beef cube, half a cup of hot water and a scant half-cup of tomato juice. Brought to a boil and seasoned with a dash of garlic and celery salt, it is a satisfying first course for a chilly day.

Waldorf Salad will please the rest of the family, too. Serve hot biscuits, bran muffins, or thin buttered toast and jam with the family salad. No dessert necessary.

Before all the luscious summer vegetables are gone, let's serve them in a delicious sandwich for Saturday luncheon, when all the family are on deck.

Garden Sandwiches
4 ripe tomatoes, peeled, chilled, and sliced thin
2 cucumbers, pared and seeds removed
1-2 green pepper and 1 small onion
Mayonnaise and minced parsley
Buttered slices of bread
—Contributed recipe.

On the bottom slice arrange a layer of sliced tomatoes, season and spread with mayonnaise, put on second slice and spread with the ground vegetables generously dressed with mayonnaise. Garnish with mayonnaise and a ripe olive.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Green Pepper Relish

12 green peppers
12 sweet red peppers
8 onions, boiling size
3 cups brown sugar
1 quart vinegar
3 tbsps. salt
—Contributed Recipe.

Grind the peppers and onions, cover with boiling water. Let stand 10 minutes, drain and repeat the process, and again drain, this time very dry, pressing the vegetables with a stuffer.
Bring sugar, salt and vinegar to a boil, add the vegetables and boil 20 minutes. Bottle while hot. The recipe makes 6 pints.

This sounds decided like India Relish, and if white mustard seed were added, I think it might be a good substitute for this standard commercial relish.

A rounded tablespoonful has a calory value of 50, chiefly energy units derived from the sugar.

Our Standard Leaflet Offer
No. 1—The SAFE AND SANE REDUCING DIET, pleasant, effective and safe. You may have it free of charge by enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope when you write for it.

No. 2—A very complete CALORY LIST, comprising totals in average helpings, cups, spoonfuls, etc. . . . nothing left to the imagination. This can be obtained free of charge by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and one of your own pet recipes.

Saturday: Tarragon Salad, a wonderfully good salad for a party.

SCHOOL NEWS

Julia Lathrop

Literary Club

Members of the Junior Literary club at Lathrop represent a group of students interested in reading the best books available. This club, sponsored by Miss Lota Blythe and Miss Leona Calkins, was organized last year and proved very popular. Although the membership is limited, there are many students in all the grades making an effort to achieve the standards required, in case there may be an opportunity to apply for membership. Each member must be recommended as a good school citizen and a worthy student by each one of his teachers. The purpose of the club is to read and make reports on the best books; also to study the latest book lists available. At the meeting held last week plans were outlined for an active part in Book Week in early November.

Officers are, president Martha Thompson; vice president, Alexander Bancroft; secretary-treasurer, Louise Johnson; sergeant-at-arms, Allen Ritter; reporter, Betty Jo Willets. Other members are Eloise Hickey, Walter Swanberger, Jean Russick, Shirle McPhee, LaVon Hall, Lucille Griggs, Billie Willard, Ruth King, Richard Coleman, Marcelle Shanafelt, Marjorie Volmer and Helen Andrews.

Student Officers

Although the Lathrop student body feels the need of an assembly hall very keenly, a makeshift assembly gathering was held last Wednesday in the rotunda for the purpose of introducing to the school the officers of the various organizations. Principal H. G. Nelson gave an interesting talk in which he welcomed new students to membership in the Lathrop student body organization. Forre Scott, sponsor of the boys' organization, introduced the student body officers, president, Bill Milligan; vice president, Persis Davis; secretary-treasurer, Gloria Kirchner; sergeant-at-arms, Lyle Hanson.

Other organizations represented in the opening gathering were Every Girl's club, sponsored by Mrs. Iva Webber, and the boys' general organization, the I. X. L. Officers of Every Girl's club are, president, Ruth Switzer; vice president, Fay Ward; secretary, Alton Miller; treasurer, Eileen Gibbs; reporter, Elsie Huffman; song leaders, Zarell Morton and Bernice Henderson; yell leader, Hazel Forester.

I. X. L. officers serving this term are, president, Ralph Haven; vice president, Alexander Bancroft; secretary, Harold Richards; sergeant-at-arms, LeRoy Hamilton; yell leader, Joe Ortega.

County Government Supervisor William C. Jerome stressed the importance of every citizen availing himself of a better understanding of governmental affairs, in an address before the Lathrop faculty last Friday noon.

He pointed out that county government was a vital unit of national government, and that all the people in a district should make themselves so far as possible an active part of the government which they helped to create.

Home Section Organizes Another low 7th grade section has organized with class officers, and is fast working its way into school activities. The officers elected in Miss Biggin's home section are, president, Geraldine Loy; vice president, Betty Jean DeWolfe; secretary-treasurer, Louise Kirchner; sergeant-at-arms, Lawrence Eymann; boys' athletic manager, James McCain; girls' athletic manager, Opal Manderscheid. Program chairman selected to serve this semester are Louise Kirchner and Harold Coe. The class chose for its name "The Blue Eagles."

The boys of the section won their first interclass encounter of the year when they played Mrs. Wolfe's low 7th grade section in touch football. They are anxiously looking forward to their games with other sections.

Frances Willard

Senior Social Law Club

The first regular meeting of the Senior Social Law club was held at 7 p. m. October 3, at the home of Mr. Read, sponsor. Tom Trawick, presiding officer, called the meeting to order and the officers of the coming year were elected. Audrey Barnes will act as president; Tom Trawick as vice-president; Larry Wicks as secretary-treasurer, and Dorothy Olson, reporter.

After the election Audrey Barnes took over the meeting and old and new business was brought up and discussed.

Initiation of new members was under direction of Tom Trawick and William Drutt, Marcelle Stein, Larry Wicks, Paul Hewitt and Leon Kaplan, together with Janice Marguerat, Eileen Reid and Kenneth Schroeder, who missed out on last year's initiation, were initiated.

Mrs. Read served refreshments. Mrs. Budd, who will act as assistant sponsor this year filling the place vacated by Miss Langley, was introduced.

Students present were Janice Marguerat, Barbara Gerrard, Betty Neff, Peggy Paxton, Marguerite Pimental, Marcelle Stein, Dorothy Olson, Eileen Reid, Leon Kaplan, Paul Hewitt, Larry Wicks, William Drutt, Glen Layton, Kenneth Schroeder and Tom Trawick.

Willard P. T. A.

The second meeting of Willard P. T. A. was held in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night. Dr. Norman Fenton, child psychology expert, spoke on "Newer Ways to Make Our Children Happier." The Willard P. T. A. joined with the Adult Education department in sponsoring the lecture and parents and friends were invited guests.

Dress Committee Meets

A meeting of the uniform dress committee was held Wednesday, October 4, in Mrs. Lund's office. A civic day was announced for Friday, October 6. Members were asked to name an alternate for days they are absent.

Boys' Tennis Club

At the first meeting of the Boys' Tennis club there were 58 boys who signed up for active membership. Those joining the club were Bill Tibbs, Robert Blakemore, Jesse Kirby, Paul Hewitt, Bill Hill, Bob Clark, Leon Lauderbach, Jim O'Connell, Marvin Jacobs and Abe Fainburg. Holding offices are Bill Tibbs, president, and Robert Blakemore, secretary. They will start a membership tournament soon. Meetings will be held Mondays in room 15.

PROGRESS AT THE EXPENSE OF THE PEOPLE

The president of the New York Stock Exchange is reported to have said recently, "If we are to have progress, we must depend upon the speculator to finance the risks involved. Speculation is in fact the price of progress. We cannot ignore the fact that the willingness to take large risks for large possible profits has changed this country from a wilderness to the wealthiest nation in the world."

All of which is true. It has often been said that the reason why Canada has not grown as rapidly as the United States is due to the conservatism of its leaders in taking financial risks. It is well enough for some to take the risks involved in wild speculation. The difficulty with the whole matter in this country has been that those who have profited most by speculation are those who have taken little risk. The revelations of the Senate Committee of Inquiry which has resumed its hearings have shown that the innocent have paid the price of progress, while those who promoted have laid up great fortunes.

It has been pointed out recently by one of our financial writers that in every large flotation of funds to build up a great industry, the bonds and the preferred stocks have been sold to the people at large while the promoters have retained for themselves all the common stock, which not only cost them nothing, but generally has reaped all the profits of growth. It has been stated again and again that the United States Steel Corporation properties were bought for $750,000,000, while it was capitalized for $1,250,000,000. $500,000,000 was retained by the promoters as common stock. It cost the promoters nothing, was originally worth nothing, but had the control and subsequently came to have considerable value.

It is always easy to speculate with other people's money. That accounts for the loss of the people's savings. It is to prevent that in the future that the Securities Act was passed by the last session of Congress. There should be no curb on speculation. If a man wants to risk his money he should be permitted to do so. But he should do so with all the facts before him. It is not just that advantage should be taken of his ignorance. Progress is desirable. Prosperity is desirable. But it is evident that much of the wealth of this nation has been gained through the losses of millions who should not have incurred the risks.

Speculation may be the stimulus to enterprise. But it should be speculation above board by those who are able to bear losses and have knowledge of risks.

Codes being so popular these days, why not one limiting the prowling hours of our neighbors' cats?

PRISON COLONIES

A recent report from France noted that a shipload of prisoners was about to set sail for Devil's Island, off the coast of French Guiana. There these prisoners were to serve out penal terms of various years' duration. Much has been written of the horrors of these prison colonies. The imprisonment of Capt. Dreyfus many years ago, whose case was one of the notorious injustices of that age, served to bring out the horrors of life in these prison colonies.

In former centuries, it was a common practice of nations to deport their prisoners. For years England used Tasmania as a prison colony. Prisoners for a debt and for other misdemeanors in those days were sent to this prison colony. Most of the civilized countries have discontinued the practice. Italy and France, we believe, are the only countries in Europe which have prison colonies beyond the sea. Russia, of course, has Siberia, which is quite as dreadful.

A new attitude toward the offender has come about in later years. It has been found that comparatively few offenders are really criminally unsocial. Many of them are victims of an early environment and defective training. Dr. Primrose, in the Vicar of Wakefield, makes the statement that the rich governs the law and the law governs the poor. Professor Jacks of Manchester College once said, "Bolshevism appears to be directed against law and order; in reality it is the refusal to accept as law and order what have hitherto passed muster as such. It is a demand for a new conception of law and order."

It is a well known fact to every student of history that many offences of the past are no longer looked upon as offences today. The greatest penalties have been inflicted in the past upon men who were really the forerunners of progress. They were punished for no other reason than that they were ahead of their times. For a civilized nation of today to tear from home and kindred a man whose offence may be comparatively trivial, so far as it affects society, is a crime against personality. The sailing of a prison ship to a lonely island in the sea is an anachronism in this enlightened age. And we wonder that such a country as France has not followed the example of England and discontinued the practice.

Smallpox has decreased 72 per cent in three years. That's one depression we don't regret.

ENTERPRISING RAILROAD MANAGEMENT

There are some railroads which are seeking to meet the problem of lessened earnings, because of competition by buses, with a new spirit of enterprise. One of the southern railroads has been experimenting with a two-cent per mile rate, and found that it has paid for the first six months of the experiment. Now, we read, the Pennsylvania Railroad has adopted the policy of calling for freight at the factory or the business house, transporting it by fast freight, and delivering it by truck to the door of the customer to whom the goods are consigned.

That is much better than fighting competition by seeking legislation regulating it by restrictive laws. The railroads have done too much of this. And all the time their earnings have been decreasing. It is only within recent years that the railroad managements have been thinking their problem through. As a result, we have air-conditioned trains, better accommodation in Pullman cars, faster trains, greater facilities for the handling and the delivering of freight, and many other devices to win public patronage. The cheap week-end excursions have increased travel on trains tremendously.

The fact is, progress will not be halted. Outworn methods will be relegated to the rear. The railroads are learning that.

"Cuba Uprising Growing Serious," reads a headline. The boys have only been playing, so far.

THE CRUMBLING ECONOMIC CONGRESS

Before the London Economic Conference adjourned, an agreement was reached that the nations composing the conference should not change their tariffs during the life of the conference. Now Holland has broken that agreement, and other countries are about to follow her example.

Holland, like England, has been a free trade country. She reluctantly set up tariff barriers. But she was forced to do so by the tariffs against her by other nations, including England. During the months since the Economic Conference adjourned, she has been feeling the bad effects of these tariffs adopted before the Conference began. She evidently saw no future for the Conference, and therefore decided to withdraw. No doubt, Holland's act is another nail in the coffin of the Conference of which so much was expected, and which so soon struck the rocks of division.

It seems President Roosevelt still can see nothing but hot air in all that inflation talk.

FEMALE FOOTBALL CASUALTY

Shades of our grandmothers! On the front page of a morning paper occurs the news of a girl football player breaking her ankle. And right at this time when fashions are showing the influence of the period when women were the "weaker sex" and fainted and showed other signs of gentility. It was in Pennsylvania that this female football casualty occurred, so far as the records reveal. The girl, Gertrude Crane, was playing in a neighborhood game. She was "knocked" by her younger brother. Her right leg broke at the ankle.

Playing in a neighborhood game, with her brother among the others lifts the curse if any. Even some of our grandmothers were known to be tomboys.

Strikes are inevitable in this formative period of industry's New Deal.

Let us agree that part of them are due to labor's politicians, eager to chisel profit and prestige for themselves, exploiting every opportunity. Let us admit that some of them are the government's fault—that campaign ballyhoo has caused large labor groups to expect more than the New Deal can yet deliver. But let us also recognize that some of the disturbance is due to a perfectly lawful cause.

Since the New Deal came in, there has been more talk than ever before about the economic fundamentals—about prices, wages, production, currency standards, debt and the like. That great growth of interest is essentially healthy. But a by-product of the increase in talk is an increase in foolish and uninformed talk.

Since the New Deal came in, there has been more "action"—and that word is a keynote—than there has ever been before. This transition period perhaps marks the passing of laissez-faire—the old let-alone formula. An inevitable by-product of increased action, is an increase in foolish and hazardous action.

Strikes are undesirable, hurtful, costly. The New Deal would eliminate much of this kind of unrest by eliminating its causes. But the New Deal is only in the process, and in this transition period some of the causes and the symptoms and the old consequences of industrial unrest still persist. There is a new desire for action, a new confidence in it—but we must expect that some action will manifest itself in undesirable forms.

Men Change Slowly

New York Times

One big reason why Four-Year Plans and Five-Year Plans have a habit of running on indefinitely is that Plans are concerned with People. You may create a fair-sized industrial machine for a nation in five or ten years, or an impressive military machine, or a bureaucratic machine, or a secret police machine. But it takes longer than that when it comes to rebuilding the ancient machine called Man.

Dictators usually discover that to change the "psychology" of a people they need fifty years. They need the time, as frankly stated sometimes, for a couple of older generations to die out. Fifty years has been a fairly common figure in Russian Communist fireside talk. Now we have fifty years bobbing up for the Nazis.

A Change of Viewpoint

Christian Science Monitor

After gazing for years contentedly in the same direction, the statue of Benjamin Franklin in Paris has had his range of vision moved "30 degrees to the left." Public authorities noticed that the widening of the street had left the honored philosopher looking somewhat away from it, as if he did not, could not, and would not, approve the improvement. Paris has long had high regard for the opinion of Benjamin Franklin, and it would never have done for his statue to sit looking askance.

More Truth Than Poetry

ESSAY ON LITERATURE

I do not care for heroes
Who never can be wrong;
No friends of mine
Are men who shine
In story and in song.
I much prefer a villain
Who's not a prissy cad.
My favorite books
Are tales of crooks
Whose hearts are base and bad.

By nature I am timid,
I could not steal nor rob.
I'd lack the heart
To take a part
In any burgling job.
But in the realm of fiction
I find a strong appeal
In evil wights
Who step out nights
To pilfer, loot and steal.

I notice that the novels
Which have the widest sale
Are most concerned
With men who've earned
A term of years in jail.
So I am no exception;
I think that you'll agree
That every one
Beneath the sun
Is pretty much like me.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WHO SHALL FINANCE RECOVERY?

Since 1929, when the ice age of business inactivity set in, three basic groups have in turn been asked to finance national recovery.

The salary and wage earning group was first called into court and told it must foot the bill of recovery. This was when Herbert Hoover was still in high command. In fairness let it be said that Hoover protested the attempt to make the salary and wage earning group bear the brunt of the tolls of the march back to business normalcy. But American business and industry—following in their trail were the various units of government—decided that salaries and wages should be devalued. It was said that business could not budge on the march back to normalcy until its salary and wage load had been lightened. And immediately the orgy of salary and wage slashing was under way. The workers were to foot the bill of recovery!

The employer group was next called into court and told it must foot the bill of recovery. This was in the early days of the Rooseveltian NRA. Employers everywhere were implored to raise wages, shorten hours and increase employment even at the sacrifice of present profit, against the chance that this would so increase business generally that all would benefit in the end. Jobs rather than profits! This was a favorite slogan in the inner circles of the Brain Trust. The employers were to foot the bill of recovery!

The consumer group is now being called into court and told it must foot the bill of recovery. Buy now! This is the slogan that now fills the air. There is no over-load of altruism in the Buy Now appeals. We are urged to buy now because prices are bound to rise and it is, therefore, but good business to buy now. This, it is argued, will set the wheels of enterprise running full again. The consumers are to foot the bill of recovery!

No one of these three groups can foot the bill of recovery. Each operates under definite limitations. Cut salaries and wages too much and the buying power of the nation dries up at its source. Postpone profits too long and the dash and drive of enterprise will leave the employer group. And we shall be ill advised to outlaw thrift as a wholly obsolete virtue and exhort men everywhere to turn spendthrift. Never in our national history has there been greater need for safeguarding ourselves against hysteria and clinging closely to a stable sanity.

The workers must be reasonable. Wages should be put as high as humanly possible, for only so can we keep popular purchasing power high. But business and industry is not a widow's curse of old that cannot run dry, and without profit-making there can be no wage-paying.

The employers must be reasonable. They cannot hope to realize high profits out of low wages and long hours.

The consumers must be reasonable. They cannot spend what they do not have. And they should not set aside all considerations of sound sense and go on a buying spree they cannot finance. But they should play the game with the workers and the employers by buying to the limit of their resources.

Only through a nation-wide cooperation of workers, employers and consumers can the NRA become a reality.

MANNERS

Many childish offenses are breaches of good manners rather than of morals. Children, being children, do not know the ways of grownup people. Their experiences are limited and even the most careful teaching cannot cover every situation they are likely to meet. Every now and then the children make a mistake and find themselves in embarrassing positions. Their mothers are annoyed or angry and think they are bad young ones who ought to be punished. As a usual thing they are ignorant children who need to be instructed.

"Would you like to have one of these cakes, Fritz?"

"No, I wouldn't."

The cake was an individual strawberry short cake piled high with whipped cream and topped with big berries. Fritz would have given his stomach teeth for it but he didn't know how to eat it. All the cakes he ever saw were different. You took them in your hand and ate them. This one was not like that. He was afraid of it. He wanted it. He had no words for the occasion being only four years of age and short on social amenities.

"One of the worst mannered children I ever saw. Ill tempered. Disobedient. When his mother told him to say, 'Yes, thank you,' he bowed and stamped and carried on like a young bull. That's going to be a bad one, mark my words."

And all that was the matter was a lack of proper manners that time and training and experience would supply.

A boy in the upper grades of grammar school got into trouble this way. He had been failing in grammar and his teacher said that he was to go to a certain teacher at a set time and get a few lessons to bring up his work. "Go and tell her about it and say I sent you."

We went out of the room and each day he followed the program apparently going for his coaching lesson on time. But his work grew worse instead of better and the grade teacher discovered that he had never gone near the coaching teacher.

"He's good for nothing. Deceitful, untruthful, lazy. I won't waste another minute on him. Let him stay back. He's asked for it."

But of course that would not do. "Tell me why you didn't go to Miss Grace, son. What was the matter?"

"I was ashamed. There were a lot of boys and girls in there. I didn't know how to tell her. I didn't know what to say. I stayed in the hall until the bell rang."

Social inadequacy not decent, not laziness, was at the root of the lad's difficulty. It is not possible for us to teach boys and girls of tender age to meet every situation with ease and grace but we can be on the watch for such situations and help the children solve them. We can go along with them, smooth their way, and teach them by word and experience how to go, what to say, how to behave.

Children are shy when they do not know what to do. They cover their trouble with brief words and hasty gestures because they are in a hurry to get away from what hurts them. We who know the road can help them, first by understanding, then by instruction in the right ways of doing things.
